Nixon Appoints Bruce Diplomat to Peking

Hanoi Warned on Infiltrating Arms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has warned Hanoi that continued infiltration of heavy weapons into South Vietnam could be met by a resumption of U.S. military force.

At a White House news conference Thursday, Nixon revealed that he had complained to North Vietnam about reports of movement of war equipment in violation of the cease-fire agreements.

"I would only suggest that based on my actions over the past four years, that the North Vietnamese should not lightly disregard such expressions of concern ... with regard to a violation," Nixon said. "That is all I will say about it."

The President said the reported infiltration of tanks and other heavy weapons into South Vietnam could lead to "rather serious consequences."

The President would not spell out the exact nature of the warning. But it appeared the United States was ready to meet continued cease-fire violations with a measured response, ultimately escalating to military action, if Hanoi does not stop the infiltration.

The United States has muted its public reaction to the continued fighting in Vietnam, apparently to avoid any interference with the release of the final group of prisoners of war later this month.

On other subjects raised during the 34-minute news conference, Nixon:

—Announced the appointment of veteran diplomat David K. E. Bruce to head the new U.S. mission in Peking which will open about May 1 with the responsibility for building a new U.S.-China partnership for "peace and better relations in the Pacific and the world."

—Reiterated his refusal to permit White House counsel John W. Dean III or any other member of his personal staff testify before committees of Congress and bluntly told the lawmakers he would welcome a test in the Supreme Court of the doctrine of executive privilege.

—Announced the government will sharply reduce its strategic stockpile, selling off large quantities of metals and other industrial raw materials in an effort to "drive down prices or at least drive down those particular elements that force prices up."

—Suggested that housewives buy less costly cuts of meat in an effort to check rising prices but said he would not urge consumers to boycott meat as some groups have proposed.

—Said the resumption of U.S. arms sales to Pakistan "in no way jeopardizes the peace in the area." Responding to Indian objections to the sales, he said: "After the war that broke Pakistan in half, India's superiority is so enormous that the possibility of Pakistan being a threat to India is absurd."

—Reaffirmed his support for his embattled nominee for FBI director, L. Patrick Gray III, but coupled the endorsement with implied criticism of Gray for giving records on the Watergate investigation to the Senate Judiciary Committee which is considering his confirmation.

—Said he is considering trips abroad in early summer and in the fall. He said possible destinations include Europe, Japan, Latin America and Africa. He gave no hint of which places he would choose to visit.

The President underlined the importance the United States attaches to the thaw in relations with Peking by naming three top diplomats to head the liaison office in China.

As deputies to Bruce, 75, he selected two of the government's top China experts—Alfred S. Jenkins, 56, director of Asian Communist Affairs in the State Department, and John Holdridge, 48, a senior official of Henry A. Kissinger's National Security Council staff.

The liaison office apparently will be an embassy in everything but the name. Establishment of the office stops just short of full diplomatic relations between the two nations that were sworn enemies for more than 20 years.

The President again ruled out price controls on meat and other raw agricultural products because he said the controls would restrict supply and produce even higher prices later.

He said he had just discovered that there is a 3 per cent duty on imported beef and he said he would take steps to have that tariff removed. Quotas on meat imports were lifted earlier.

Wounded Knee Indians at Odds

WOUNDED KNEE, S. D. (UPI) — The government's chief negotiator returns here from Washington today with what could be a final offer to militant Indians to abandon their occupation of Wounded Knee.

In the background was the threat of another confrontation, this time between two Indian groups. The head of the Oglala Sioux Tribal Council threatened to begin sweeping through the reservation today picking up "undesirables" who are supporting the American Indian Movement (AIM), the militant Indian group behind the Wounded Knee occupation.

Harlington Wood, who has been representing the government in renewed talks with AIM leaders this week, left for Washington late Thursday for what a spokesman said was "a series of meetings with top officials of the Justice and Interior Departments."

Wood's departure brought claims from AIM leaders that the White House had become directly involved in negotiations to end the 17-day old occupation. But later, in Washington, White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the White House was not at all involved in negotiations, and that instructions to the negotiators on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation were coming from the Justice and Interior Departments.

While the skirmish of words took place over purported White House intervention, Dick Wilson, president of the Oglala

Sioux Tribal Council and the object of the AIM campaign, announced his warriors would begin their sweep of the reservation today picking up "undesirables."

Wilson said his chief target would be representatives of the National Council of Churches, who have been serving as liaison between the government and militant forces. Wilson said the council was actually aiding AIM militants, and accused one council of churches representative of arrogance.

AIM leaders are demanding the ouster of Wilson for his alleged mishandling of tribal finances, and had failed in formal impeachment proceedings of Wilson shortly before the takeover of Wounded Knee. About a week after the takeover, Wilson had threatened to clean out the armed militant Indians entrenched in the Oglala Sioux hamlet, saying he could not hold back nonmilitant Indians any longer and had 800 to 900 armed warriors ready. However, nothing ever came from the threat.

Longest Held POW, 31 Others Released

CLARK AIR BASE, Philip- (UPI) — Army Maj. Floyd Thompson, the longest-held American prisoner of the Vietnam War, walked to freedom wearing a green beret today along with 31 other POWs who completed the next to last phase of Operation Homecoming.

Thompson, 39, of New Milford, N.J., who was captured March 26, 1964, while riding a military aircraft as an observer, was the second man down the ramp of the plane which brought the men from Hanoi. The beret, which was worn by the U.S. special forces in Vietnam, was carried to him in Hanoi.

"They're going to have to fight like hell to get this off my head this time," Thompson was quoted as saying aboard the flight to the Philippines. The 32 men, released by the Viet Cong, joined 110 others who had been released by North Vietnam and China over the past two days. Most of the men were expected to be back in the United States this weekend.

Today's release means 147 Americans remain in prison camps in Indochina. All are to be released by March 28 according to the Paris cease-fire.

Also on the flight today were Marine Pfc. Ronald L. Ridgeway, 23, of Houston, who was listed as dead until his name appeared on the POW list, and Army Maj. Floyd H. Kushner, 31, of Richmond and Danville, Va., whose wife seconded the Democratic presidential nomination of George McGovern.

Ridgeway and Kushner walked off the plane showing little emotion. Kushner, wearing horn-rimmed glasses, did not glance at the crowd gathered to meet the POWs.

Thompson had a huge smile on his face when he saluted the flag on his arrival. He and three other men aboard the flight were given green berets on the flight to Clark Air Base by Special Forces Sgt. I.C. Lonnie Johnson, who was based in Okinawa.

"On behalf of the men in this group, I would like to thank the President of the United States, Mr. Nixon, for bringing us home with this dignity and honor and for allowing us to return to our beloved America," said Air Force Col. Theodore Guy, of Tucson, Ariz., the first man off the flight.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the decisions that were made in December to bomb key targets in North Vietnam hastened an end to this war and brought us home today."

Related stories on page 24.

The men released today did not show as much emotion as most of the POWs freed in the past, appearing somber and paying little attention to the crowd between the plane and the bus which took them to the base hospital.

Once on the bus, however, men leaned out the windows and waved, several giving the thumbs up sign symbolizing life to the crowd.

The flight and release went without a hitch, although at the last moment early today officials were forced to switch to a secondary hospital jet when the first failed to start.

Information officer Air Force Lt. Col. Richard Abel, who was aboard the flight, said two buses brought the POWs from downtown Hanoi to Gia Lam Airport for the brief ceremony, and was captured during the 1968 Tet offensive in Hue.

and quiet as they passed through the area," Abel said. But "there were very large grins and smiles when they shook the hands of the (American) general and were escorted out."

When the doors of the plane closed to taxi for takeoff to freedom, the ex-prisoners "suddenly became very alive and talkative," the information officer said.

Cheers, pillows and blankets were thrown around the plane on takeoff. Candy, cigarettes, magazines and pastries were handed out for the 2½-hour flight back to Clark.

Marine Pvt. Frederick Elbert, Brentwood, N.Y., who was listed as a deserter by U.S. authorities after he disappeared Aug. 16, 1968, whipped off snappy salutes to the officers on hand to greet him. He limped slightly however, favoring his left leg.

The oldest prisoner, civilian Russel Page, 52, Elberta, Mich., moved painfully down the red carpet to the hospital bus. At one point he seemed almost to fall, but regained his balance again unaided.

Page was an employee of Pacific Architects and Engineers, a maintenance firm under contract to the Army, and was captured during the 1968 Tet offensive in Hue.

Tis' Great Day for Honorary Irish

T'was truly Top of the Morning for Clifford A. Henze, chosen Irishman of the Year at the fourth annual Ulster County Chamber of Commerce St. Patrick's breakfast. Taking part in the 5th festivities at the Governor Clinton Hotel today were David H. Rylance, chamber president; "O'Henze", and Len Cane, chamber executive vice president. This year's honorary Irishman is past president of the chamber and president of Heritage Savings Bank. Of course Saturday is the real St. Patrick's Day and celebrations are in order. Report Criticized By Monticello Head

Panel Proposes State Run OTB

NEW YORK (UPI)—A commission appointed by Governor Rockefeller said Thursday that off-track betting has put the state's $200 million-a-year horse racing industry in a "weakened condition" of "crisis" proportions.

It recommended off-track betting be run by the state with severe limitations.

The nine-member Delafield Commission, charged with studying racing's future, also suggested a single state agency coordinate the industry, including the functions of the state racing, harness racing, quarter horse racing and pari-mutuel off-track betting commissions.

"Horse racing is in a weakened condition largely because of off-track betting" which has "contributed to severe declines in attendance at the tracks," said the commission in a 153-page report.

"If OTB is restructured and controlled, it can benefit racing. If it continues as presently provided in law, off-track betting may destroy racing."

(Leon Greenberg, president of Monticello Raceway and a strong opponent of OTB since its inception, was nevertheless critical of some of the recommendations of the Delafield Commission.)

Greenberg said specifically that the commission's suggestion that a five per cent surcharge be added to all OTB bets is "unfair," and added that he didn't think the public would accept such a move.

He also took exception to the commission's suggestion that New York City tracks receive four per cent of the first $50 million of the OTB handle, but that upstate (and smaller) tracks receive only two per cent. He said the small upstate tracks "have the burden of supporting the small horsemen and maintaining the sport."

Eight GOP legislators join Dems in attack on Rockefeller's budget. Story on page 5.

Greenberg further charged that the report deals almost exclusively with off track betting operations in New York City, although "it's supposed to be a study of statewide problems." He said it was a "typical" Rockefeller-appointed commission, and said he doesn't expect upstate legislators to support the Delafield report because of its concentration of the metropolitan area.)

An aide to Mayor John V. Lindsay said a takeover of the city's OTB operation would "emasculate" it. "The city will make an all-out fight against any such attempt," he said.

Howard Samuels, the city's OTB president, said, "For the commission to recommend a state takeover of OTB, now that OTB is generating more than $1 million of profit each week and can be a source of significant revenue for other municipalities, is unbelievable."

A Rockefeller aide said, "He has received the report, he'll study it."

Off-track betting only operates in the city, where its handle last year was $450 million, and in Schenectady, with an average daily handle of $30,000.

The commission's OTB recommendations included: Emphasizing exotic wagering (bets on combinations of several horses with high payoffs) on two or three important races per week; slapping OTB bettors with a five per cent surcharge on bets; keeping the present moratorium on OTB expansion until the state studies its impact, and emphasizing racing in OTB advertising as a spectator attraction.

Dems Approve 11 Aldermen

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

City Democrats have a plan for reapportionment — an 11-ward plan; they have a majority in the Common Council — a 9-4 majority. The question is: Can they muster the necessary seven votes to pass it?

Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the Common Council's Special Committee on Reapportionment, told The Freeman today that the Democratic majority of his

with them first before announcing anything.

The "political problem" with Quick's 11-ward plan is that it combines four of the present wards into two new ones. Previously, Quick had allowed that the combination of Republican Edmond J. Roux in the Ninth Ward and Democrat Clifford G. Sinsabaugh in the 10th was the "probable" outcome of Democrat Peter J. Mancuso in the 12th and Republican Titus B. Sims in the 13th was "possible."

"We figure it will be a close vote," Quick said. "We're not figuring on any of the (four) wards plan) before the city convention," Quick said.

"There is still no definite word on the 'top of the ticket,' we're going with 11."

There is still no definite word on the "top of the ticket," we're going with 11."

District Two Republicans Pick Replacement for Dye

By LYNN MULVANEY

TOWN OF ULSTER

District Two Republicans have nominated two incumbents

—Lester C. Elmendorf and Richard D. Nace for reelection to the County Legislature and picked J. Watson Bailey School Principal Stephen Hyatt as a third candidate after incumbent Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2), asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

Both Town of Ulster GOP Chairman Edwin Callahan and Town of Kingston Republican Chairman Kenneth Whispell said that after Dye told them to withdraw his candidacy for reelection committeemen from both towns threw their support behind Hyatt over two other contenders, Stephen Conti and Arthur Motzin.

Dye told The Freeman today that he asked to have his name withdrawn because he "thought I would be denied the nomination because of my position on the new reapportionment plan."

On March 11, Dye made public the fact that the GOP did not plan to hold a referendum on reapportionment until the November general election. The former minority leader said he pushed for an April 24 referendum in order to force a primary. The November referendum excludes a primary, he explained.

Dye, who was previously denied his district's endorsement for reelection and was forced to enter a primary twice to retain his seat, said "I still have hopes we can have a primary... If I hadn't entered the two prior primaries, I would have been out of office six years ago."

Elmendorf and Nace are both residents of the Town of Ulster and presently serve District Two which is comprised of Ulster, Town of Kingston, Hurley and Marlborough. Under reapportionment, District Two is comprised of only Town of Ulster and Town of Kingston. Hyatt is from Town of Kingston.

Hyatt has been a GOP committeeman for 22 years and resides in Town of Ulster. In the Town of Kingston there are 255 enrolled Republicans, 81 Democrats, 23 Conservatives, one Liberal and 92 non-enrolled voters.

In the Town of Ulster there are 3,018 Republicans, 956 Democrats, 98 Conservatives, 23 Liberals and 1,951 non-enrolled voters.

County GOP Convention Tonight

KINGSTON

Ulster County Republicans will hold their unofficial county convention tonight at 7 o'clock at the Walnut Grove, Kingston and select candidates for county and city offices.

It is expected that the following incumbents will receive party endorsement for a reelection: Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, County

Treasurer Fred H. DuBois, County Coroner Arthur Chipp and all incumbent county legislators with the exception of Harry Kaprielian (R-City) who does not seek reelection and Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) who asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration at a relection: Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, District At-

City candidates were selected at a GOP City Convention Wednesday night and it is expected they will be endorsed by the County Convention. They include William Merrill for mayor and Burt Ellis for alderman-at-large. To date the city committee has failed to nominate a candidate for city judge but it is hoped that a contender will come forth in time for tonight's convention. Among new city GOP legislative nominees to come before the county convention are Mrs. Ann Bartz, Addison Jones and John Machione. The county is also expected to endorse candidates for the Common Council as nominated by the City Committee Wednesday night.

Leagues Oppose 8-District Plan

The Leagues of Women Voters of Kingston, New Paltz, Saugerties and Woodstock, meeting recently to consider the proposed reapportionment plan for Ulster County, have come out as "firmly opposed" to the eight-district plan.

Concern was expressed over what was termed the "unwieldy size" of some of the proposed districts.

"The Leagues at present support districts that follow existing town lines as far as practicable," it was stated in a press release. "they should also be of contiguous territory with the smallest perimeter possible."

The four leagues are reportedly attempting to devise an alternate to the GOP-backed eight-district plan, which has also come under fire from other quarters. The League plan would increase the number of districts and reduce the number of legislators to run at large in each district, according to a League spokesman.

The eight-district plan is scheduled to be submitted to the voters for a referendum sometime before the November general elections.

In other action at their meeting, the four leagues considered the question of how public schooling should be financed if funds are not to be based on the real property wealth of local school districts.

Alternate systems of financing were explored. It was pointed out that the wealth of school district bears no relation to educational needs.

Lloyd Board to Outline Bonds Plans

TOWN OF LLOYD

The Lloyd Town Board will be meeting with representatives from Marine Midland Bank next week to outline plans for the issuance of some $240,000 in bonds by the town to pay for work on the town's water district.

That meeting is set for March 21 and will be followed by five other special meetings of the Town Board dealing with such items as the highway department on March 24, revenue sharing on March 26, a meeting on zoning violations on March 28, another one of a similar nature on the possible adoption of the state building code on March 31 and a meeting on April 2 with Town Attorney Louis DeStasi Jr. on the town accepting title to a number of roads in the township.

At the regular meeting on Wednesday night, the town Board awarded a bid of $4,285 to Rizzo Ford of Highland for a one-ton dump truck and accepted the low bid of A. & J. A. Hauling Company of Highland for fill for the landfill at $1.49 a yard.

Supervisor Louis Foscardi said there was "considerable discussion" at the town board meeting on a $56,000 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the construction of a park in the hamlet of Highland. A decision on that was tabled.

The board also heard a report from its engineers, Brinnier and Larios of Kingston on a drainage system for Highland hamlet. HUD has already allocated $87,000 for that project. Town officials hope to start work within the next few weeks.

As far as the possibility of a new atomic power plant in the township, near the Esopus Town line, Foscardi said that the town doesn't expect any definite word on that until atmospheric tests are completed this summer.

One Killed, 27 Hurt in Railroad Accident

TRAIN WRECK CASUALTY — An injured man is carried from a Long Island Railroad passenger train after it smashed into a standing freight train in the Long Island town of Lake Ronkonkoma. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

RONKONKOMA, N. Y. (AP) — "Then we saw a conductor carried the injured to Smithtown and St. John's hospitals in Smithtown. A total of 10 passengers were admitted. Margaret Brehm, 55, of Ronkonkoma, was pronounced dead on arrival at Smithtown Hospital. Daniel Cecio, 36, of Selden, N.Y., was admitted in critical condition. A LIRR spokesman said commuters who ride the 4:41 and 5:27 a.m. trains would be transported by buses to Central Islip for their train connections. Normal service was expected to be resumed in time for the 6:06 to New York.

The train engineer, Roy Tate of Sayville, suffered hip injuries. Reached at their home, Walter L. Schlager, president of the railroad, arrived at the scene about 12:15 a.m. and huddled with other railroad officials without making any comments to reporters.

All four cars of the passenger train derailed, but remained upright. A railroad spokesman said they appeared not to have incurred much damage.

An initial explanation that brake failure caused the train to roll eastward through its last stop was later revised by the railroad.

"We don't have any idea what happened," a spokesman said. "A full investigation is underway."

The passenger train, the 8:41 from Hicksville, had engines at both ends. The freight train, which was estimated by the railroad to be about 500 feet east of the station, was empty.

The crash site was about 50 miles east of Manhattan. Alfred Olsen, a taxi driver who said he was waiting on the station platform said the train seemed to be approaching the station faster than usual.

"Sparks were flying from the wheels," he said. "It looked like the Fourth of July. It didn't look like the train was going to stop."

Olsen said "the whole platform shook" during the crash.

Senate Committee May Hold Gray 'Hostage'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Judiciary Committee members are showing no disposition to take President Nixon to court for refusing to let his official lawyer testify on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

"The committee has other action it can take," said Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., a member of the panel.

He said, for example, that the committee could simply tell Nixon it would not act on Gray's nomination unless White House Counsel John W. Dean III appears for questioning.

Nixon said Thursday he does not believe the committee would hold Gray "hostage," but the members appear closely divided. The issue may come to a vote next week.

Ervin not only is a Judiciary Committee member but chairman of a committee created by the Senate to investigate the Watergate bugging and other alleged political espionage and sabotage in last year's presidential election.

All indications are that if an attempt is made to compel Dean's testimony, it will be done by Ervin's committee in the Watergate investigation, rather than by the Judiciary Committee in its consideration of Gray's nomination.

"If we are going to have this confrontation, I'd rather face it with the select committee," Ervin said. Other senators also said Ervin's committee would be the preferred battleground.

At a news conference Thursday, Nixon said he would not allow Dean to testify at any congressional hearing and invited a Supreme Court test of his stand on executive privilege.

"If the Senate feels they want a court test, we would welcome it," he said.

Although Dean, at the President's direction, declined the Judiciary Committee's invitation to testify on Gray's nomination, he offered to answer relevant questions submitted in writing.

The only way the committee could force a court test would be to subpoena Dean and then, if he refused to appear, seek to have the Senate cite him for contempt.

This is just what Ervin said he proposes to do if Nixon refuses to let Dean testify at the forthcoming Watergate investigation. Ervin said Dean would be "a very relevant witness" at his committee's hearings.

"If we get any information that any White House aide has any knowledge relevant to this investigation," Ervin said, "I will certainly recommend to the committee he be subpoenaed and if he fails to appear or refuses to give information after appearing, I will recommend to the Senate he be judged in contempt of Congress."

International Money Crisis: More Emergency Meetings

PARIS (UPI) — The non-Communist world's richest nations assembled today in the latest in a series of emergency meetings to deal with an international monetary crisis that forced devaluation of the dollar and a record 17-day shutdown of major money markets.

Finance ministers of the 13 nations joined Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz at the meeting, part of a series that began when the second major money crisis of 1973 erupted last month.

Financial sources said Shultz was expected to tell the other 13 nations what Washington plans to do in helping solve the crisis.

By the end of the meeting tonight, financial sources said short range reforms of the world monetary system were possible. Talks on permanent solutions to the money question will go on at a more leisurely pace.

Money markets from London to Tokyo will reopen Monday after a shutdown ordered March 2 when speculators flooded markets with billions of unwanted dollars. The wave of selling endangered the dollar, other main currencies and the fragile monetary structure itself.

The crisis came after a 10 per cent dollar devaluation ordered by President Nixon in mid-February.

The crisis already has brought one basic reform—a decision by six of the nine members of the European Common Market to "float" their currencies, thus ending a 29-year relationship that linked their currencies with the dollar.

Republican Legislators Attack Rocky's Budget

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Gov. Rockefeller's $8.88 billion budget was under attack from members of his own party today with eight Republican legislators from central New York suggesting it be cut by $855.8 million.

The central New York delegation also called for repeal of the 2.5 per cent income tax surcharge and restoration of the $25 and $12.50 income tax credits. The surcharge was imposed and the credits eliminated last year to bail the state out of a fiscal crisis.

In its report released Thursday, the GOP bloc from the Syracuse area estimated there would be a surplus of $375 million in the coming year and a two-year surplus totaling $700 million if the governor's budget was approved as submitted.

The legislature is expected to act on the budget the week after next with the new fiscal year beginning April 1. In predicting the large surplus, the Republican lawmakers joined the ranks of Democratic fiscal critics, who have charged that Rockefeller's spending and taxing plan for the coming year would result in a surplus of up to $1 billion.

The Democrats have alleged the Republican governor is building the surplus as an election year cushion, so that he can either cut taxes next year or add to services in an effort to gain political advantage.

The central New York delegation did not make the political charge about the GOP governor's budget proposal, but warned of impending financial danger if spending were not eliminated, the 2.5 per cent income tax surcharge imposed by the governor's liquor and gasoline. Among the major recommendations made by the delegation: The delegation opposed the tax boost in the special session of January, 1972, in which the $25 and $12.50 tax credits were

Hoffman House Bids...April Opening

KINGSTON

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency will open bids for the exterior restoration of the Hoffman House at the corner of North Front Street and Green Street on April 6 at 2 p.m.

The restoration, according to James G. Connors, director of the agency, will be extensive and no doubt expensive although Connors says that cost estimates "are difficult on this type of job." Albert E. Milliken, a member of the Landmarks Preservation Commission, is the architect for the project.

The Hoffman House, the home of the Salvation Army for more than 60 years, is considered one of the city's most valuable historic sites. There is some dispute as to the actual age of the building itself, but the foundation is believed to date to the late 17th century. Nicholas Von Hoffman built the present structure, according to records, in 1707. There is evidence that the original building formed one of the corners of the old Stockade.

The agency, which purchased the building several years ago, intends to make every effort toward a faithful restoration of the building, Connors said. Contract documents available at the urban renewal offices at 436 Broadway state, "It is intended to retain the original work to the fullest extent possible... and it is therefore essential that all door and window frames be handled with utmost care."

The contract also calls for restoration of the roof and stone walls. "Rough-hewn hemlock boards" will be used on the roof, native bluestone on the front porch steps and the chimney will be repaired and restored.

Later this year, the agency will let a separate contract for the restoration of the interior of the building although its use will be restricted to either a private home or to a business in keeping with its historical heritage.

Welfare Reform

While conceding that "the welfare mess" still needs attention, President Nixon's message to Congress on human resources was notable for an omission. It made no mention of the Family Assistance Plan for a guaranteed annual income which was the cornerstone of the welfare reform program he pursued during his first term.

Congress was cool to that plan, for political reasons if not for the uncertainties it posed in regard to costs and its effectiveness as a substitute for the relief and categorical aid program now found in the welfare structure. What is now emerging is that President Nixon has grown cool toward the idea, too.

It could well be that four years of experience with the federal bureaucracy has convinced Nixon that the federalization of welfare—for all the speed of consolidating and computerizing welfare administration at a high level—would simply invite the kind of problems that have overtaken federal anti-poverty programs as a whole.

If there is one lesson to be learned from President Johnson's ambitious "war on poverty," it is that locating command posts and supplies of ammunition in Washington is no way to do battle with an enemy preying on the smallest unit of our society, the family.

Further, the Family Assistance Plan never cleared a basic philosophical hurdle. The "work incentive" formulas attached to it were unconvincing. Indeed, the plan seemed to contradict a principle which Nixon himself underscored in his radio message

Help For Street Boys

A Vet with an eight-year hitch, the last three years as an American army advisor to the Vietnamese and Thai police forces, has stayed in Saigon to work with the Saigon street boys. These tough, disillusioned youths are the product of the war, of displacement, but the program there may give a clue as to what to do about our own ghetto boys.

The approach of the agency with which Paul William Jones Jr. works is that the pre-delinquent or pre-criminal is established at a very early age, but love, interest, education, clean clothes, good food, sports, arts, vocational training; along with a concept which encourages boys to help others, can work miracles. In a high percentage of cases, it does. It keeps most of them out of the jails and detention centers with hardened lawbreakers.

Instead, they live in dorms which are more like an urban Boys' Town.

Paul Jones' goal is to help train Vietnamese social workers to handle the street boys. Foreigners must cross cultures and learn how to motivate these youngsters on their own terms. The youths must be persuaded to accept discipline, guidance, and schooling. As fast as possible, older native boys who have been in the program for some time are trained to take active part in operation of the homes in leadership and supervision.

We should have urban Boys' Towns and World Vision (which is the agency with which Jones is affiliated) dorms in our own cities. Vet Paul Jones is convinced he can save a lot more lives, working with street boys, than in any other way.

BENNY'S WORLD

When you live in a world of females—as I do—it is important to stop trying to understand them. They are beautiful, emotional creatures who improve on God's work with cream, inguents, blue eye shadow, lipstick and undergarments designed to make them what they are not.

Last week our gorgeous Kathi went off to a high school prom with a tall, hungry-looking kid named Skip Van Wie. As the girl's father, I had a little chat with the boy first. I had a notion that a prom was a long formal dress and dancing cheek-to-cheek as Guy Lombardo played "Auld Lang Syne."

Skip said no. The prom today consists of going somewhere where that is a wild comb shrieking out of its skull. That's for spicers. Then onto another place for a long class dinner. After midnight, off to a third place for dancing. Six a.m., the kids have breakfast.

Skip and I understand each other. "Kill the breakfast," I said. "She gets home no later than 4." He's an intelligent young man. I wasn't sure when we parted whether I had won or lost.

Her mother says yes to everything. But then, she too has a little mental quirk. Anyone who goes to bed with a medical encyclopedia and a big tin of potato chips can't be all bad. For laughs, she reads "TV Guide."

She has a girl friend, Ginny, who hits the sack with a toothpick in her mouth and hands outstretched as the nail polish dries. Her husband can tell when she's awake by watching the movement of the toothpick. Ginny told me she sold the horse she had in the garage. "That's nice," I said. "We took a loss of $150," she said. "Is that so?" said my wife in astonishment. "What year model was he?" Karen, who is our spiritual leader—the great beating heart of the Bishops—wouldn't kill an insect. In her room she has a small fish tank.

At dinner one night she looked sad. She said she had to kill one of her barb fish. "Kill?" I said, stunned. "Yes," she said. "He bit the tails off the other fish." I kept thinking to myself that this made him the sole survivor, but I was afraid to ask.

I once had a mother-in-law who was 5 feet tall, 190 pounds of love, with no neck. In the middle of World War II, she said: "The Japs aren't on our side, are they?" One day her daughter said: "Mamma, Muriel died." Mom said: "Muriel who?" Daughter: "I forget her last name, but you met her." "I can't remember."

Remember when Tessie got married 10 years ago and had a reception in Ukrainian Hall? "Yes," I said. "Well, Muriel was the one in the lavender lace dress with the matching satin slip." "Oh, THAT Muriel. How sad."

Ginny brings babies into the world. Gayle sees that everybody leaves in proper order. She assists Dr. Jack Mickley at autopsies.

Someday I'm going to decipher that puzzle.

At Valentine's Day I bought my wife some flowers and placed among them a gold pin with 46 diamonds. The next day she surprised me with a new golf bag purchased at Cheap Sam's. Everything events out in the end. I furnished the clubs that went into the bag.

Female moods are important. They can be turned on high, or very low, without tangible reason. A man coming home from work may be kissed to death or clubbed to death. Once I made the mistake of saying a kind word about an old girlfriend. I made that mistake once.

I have walked into the kitchen before dinner time to find Kelly and Karen and Kathi convulsed with laughter. They couldn't speak. When I asked what was so funny, they said: "Oh, you wouldn't understand."

If they are swaddled in robes at breakfast and the doorbell rings, all three fly to different bedrooms. The dog and I are left to answer the ring. Yet, when they are dressed to go out, some of those dresses look like long blouses. Sometimes the décolletage is daring. They go to church in material barely sufficient to keep from being arrested.

On Mondays, my mother always wore a cloth around her head. What it meant was: "I have just finished the week's washing and I have a headache. One word out of any of you and I'll chew your head off." She once saw a movie four times. It was a sad thing called "Over the Hill." I asked why four times. "Because," she said imperiously, "it gave me a good cry."

Strangely, I am a man completely content in the midst of this madness. I have four daughters and never wished for a boy. And every time one of them marries, I get the feeling that I'm turning over a million dollar Stradivarius to an orangutan.

"Skip, what are you doing having another dream about John Connally's smoking jacket?"

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Aging, ailing former Rep. J. Irving Whalley, a one-time United Nations delegate, may soon be prosecuted by the Justice Department for taking kickbacks from his employees.

That is the firm recommendation of the United States attorney in Pittsburgh to Attorney General Richard Kleindienst following more than a year of investigation by the FBI.

Whalley, a conservative Pennsylvania Republican, named by President Nixon as a delegate to the U.N. in 1969, was a high-ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and a prominent banker and churchman in Windber, Pa. Behind this front of impeccable respectability, however, he chiseled his employees for nickels, dimes and dollars from their House salaries to meet his personal and campaign costs. On September 27, 1971, we began a series of five articles on the eccentric millionaire which led to the FBI probe and caused Whalley to give up plans for a seventh congressional term. A few weeks ago, Pittsburgh's U.S. Attorney Richard Thornburgh, himself a Republican, assessed the huge documentation amassed by the FBI in Pennsylvania and Washington and sent his recommendation to the Justice Department.

Variety of Charges

In his memo, Thornburgh suggested the case "go forward" against the backwoods Bobby Baker. Thornburgh recommends prosecution of Whalley on a variety of kick-back charges.

But to get a federal grand jury into action, Thornburgh will need the personal approval of Kleindienst who, ironically, was once stoutly defended by Whalley.

Whalley's friends on Capitol Hill are not optimistic that Kleindienst will return the courtesy. They point out that nothing would help take the sting out of the Watergate case like the indictment of a prominent Republican by the Nixon Administration.

Whalley, now 70 years old, ill with chronic heart and arthritic problems, no longer useful to his party, is just the sort of gray-fleeced sacrificial lamb that the Justice Department needs. A decision by the Administration is expected shortly.

Reached in Pittsburgh, U.S. Attorney Thornburgh declined any comment. Whalley, who has consistently denied all wrongdoing, reiterated from Windber that he was innocent of any violations.

Sugarcoated Danger

One of America's major pharmaceutical firms has sugarcoated the bitter dangers of a fast-selling drug it is promoting for Mexican children. Such concealment is against the law in the United States.

In deed, when Sterling Drug's Winthrop Laboratories peddles "Winstrol" in the United States, it carefully warns that the drug should be used only for a rare blood disease, a bone disease of the aged, and dwarfism. Sterling's ads in the United States honestly advise doctors that "Winstrol" can atrophy the testicles of boys, deform the genitals of girls, and stunt the growth of both. It also may cause female baldness and deepening of young girls' voices.

But Sterling is not bound by U.S. law in Mexico. Reporters for "The Medical Letter," a nonprofit magazine, discovered a two-page ad from Sterling's foreign division depicting a healthy young boy of about seven. The ad recommends he be given "Winstrol Compound" (the same drug with vitamins and iron) "if he complains of poor appetite, fatigue or weight loss."

There is no warning in the ad to Mexican doctors that their young patients may suffer genital damage and other dire effects and that long dosage of "Winstrol Compound" increases the chances of these disasters.

Sterling's medical director, Dr. Monroe Trout, said the ad had been discontinued, that it complied with Mexican law and that warnings were available to doctors in other literature on "Winstrol Compound."

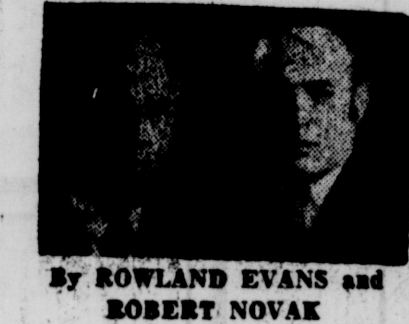

When we asked him whether there was a moral responsibility to give doctors of Mexican children the same warnings given doctors of American children, Dr. Trout replied, "I don't think there is a moral question."

Capitol Crimes

Congressional secretaries have long been afraid of walking on the Capitol grounds after dark because of the danger of assaults. Now, some are worried about assaults inside the Capitol buildings in the daytime hours.

One female employee was recently roughed up on the fifth floor of the Cannon House office building. Another was accosted in the same area by a man spewing obscenities, but she escaped.

While Capitol police search for the intruders, some congressmen have come up with their own solution. They want to install buzzers connected to police rooms in all out-of-the-way areas where female staffers must work.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—The fact that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, facing increasing hostility at the White House, is entering a personal political crisis was indirectly but bluntly conveyed to him by one of President Nixon's senior staffers last week.

The White House staffer asked an Agnew aide this question: What can you honestly say the Vice President is doing in behalf of the President and the President's program?

Well, the Agnew man replied, we're improving our liaison with Congress and that ought to benefit the President's program on Capitol Hill.

Not good enough, snapped the Nixon aide. Agnew, he pointed out, has been almost totally silent of late, failing to speak up in behalf of the President in his great battles—on impoundment of funds, on reduction of federal social services, on attempts to curb congressional power. No, he concluded, Agnew has been no help at all.

A White House staffer would not dare criticize the Vice President in such remarkably outspoken terms without assurance that the President would not object. Moreover, the Nixon staff has seemed eager that this disapproving attitude be made known outside the White House gates—an attitude lethally corrosive to Agnew's still strong base among the Republican party faithful.

Among those conservative state leaders who comprise the backbone of the Republican party, Agnew remains the clear early frontrunner for 1976. John B. Connally, not yet turned Republican at this writing, is a distant second in their eyes.

But Agnew's strength at the grass roots derives almost wholly from Mr. Nixon's. Having failed to build up party alliances and friendships over the past four years, Agnew's prestige at the grass roots is now imperiled by the proliferating message of Agnew's low esteem at the White House.

So far, at least, this chill from the White House has not discouraged Agnew himself. His close advisors believe he has made a tentative decision to seek the 1976 nomination, which explains his refraining from the strident rhetoric that he must eliminate as his trademark in order to widen his political base.

As his aide told the White House staffer, Agnew is attempting to build links with Republicans on Capitol Hill—not really for the purpose of boosting Nixon programs but to seek political alliances. Within the last month, Agnew aides newly assigned to congressional liaison have paid visits to the party's congressional leaders to make a stand-by offer of Agnew's assistance and to open regular two-way communications.

Beyond this, Agnew supporters want him to start worrying about his new playboy image as Frank Sinatra's best buddy. They have advised him to avoid recurrences of his side-by-side appearance with Sinatra over national television a month ago at the Bob Hope golf tournament in Palm Springs.

If Agnew can actually do all this—tone down his rhetoric, build congressional alliances and bury the Sinatra program—his political advisors feel the cool wind from the White House will not make that much difference. They believe that a lame-duck Nixon will have little impact on the 1976 nomination and cannot conceivably sell the party a newly converted Connally.

But this view does not comprehend the precariousness of Agnew's present position. He is without government duties, having been stripped of his politically valuable function of liaison with the mayors and governors. He clearly is not in close contact with the President. And now the White House staff is eager to put out the word that he is not helping Mr. Nixon nearly enough.

Agnew's danger is that the sum total of all this will carry to state Republican leaders the belief now widely held inside the White House: Agnew is not a serious or industrious figure worthy of running for President or capable of being elected. If that appraisal begins to melt away the thin veneer of Agnew's popularity among party regulars, he will have faded disastrously, long before Mr. Nixon decides whether or not to try to crown a successor.

FAT-HEADED PARENTS NEED PRO-TEEN DIETS

Choices For '76... How Can We Obtain More Housing?

NEW YORK CITY — once on every television station in the Region — over the three-day period. They also are discussed in the first chapter of a new book, How To Save Urban America (New American Library), on newsstands and bookstores, as part of the town meeting process. And they appear on ballots running in this newspaper and available from some 700 banks and libraries or from Regional Plan Association. Phone (212) 867-4755, or write CHOICES for '76, Box 7676, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017.

There will be five town meetings — each with a film in the course of an hour-long, documentary film to be run 23 apartments now threatened with abandonment, and invest more government money in rehabilitating these apartments.

● Continue to build federally subsidized low-rent public housing and find more sites for this housing outside the crowded neighborhoods where the poor now predominate. Or instead of building more low-rent public housing, give a subsidy directly to families now in substandard housing so they can afford a decent home or apartment on the private market.

● Subsidize construction of middle-income housing in the older cities so middle-income families can afford to remain in the city — to keep cities socially balanced.

Before filling in the ballot, participants are urged to watch the television show Saturday, Sunday or Monday (broadcast times are listed at the end) and discuss the issues in formal and informal groups. Civic groups, businesses, churches, schools and colleges are organizing viewing-discussion groups, and thousands of individuals are signed up to host a group in their homes. Ballots can be carried to cooperating banks and libraries, mailed individually or sent in stamped, addressed envelopes provided those who tell Regional Plan they will be discussion hosts.

No names need be put on the ballots. The ballot will run in the Sunday Freeman.

Television Film Schedule: Town meeting films are scheduled to be shown at the following times:

Saturday — March 17
5:00 p.m. — Channel 2 (WCBS); 6:30 p.m. — Channel 13 (WNET).

Food Stamps Users ... Numbers Decrease

KINGSTON — a decrease of 81 persons using food stamps in Ulster County during the month of January has been announced as compared with food stamp users in December.

According to the Food and Nutritional Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the purchase value of stamps in January was $76,000 as compared to $76,187 in December.

During January 5,300 persons were on food stamps compared to 5,381 in December. Of this amount 3,300 were on public assistance and 2,000 on non-public assistance.

The bonus value of the stamps used in January was $48,000 as compared to $48,093 in December.

While there was a decrease in food stamp usage in Ulster County during January, statewide, participation in increased by 127,389 persons. According to USDA, the recipients paid $23 million for food coupons valued at $34 million. The $11 million difference is designed to provide participants with more and better food according to USDA.

Joe and Ruth Serraro came home to a '73 Ford Galaxie 500 so they could see the town without having to listen to it.

The Serraro family of North Haledon, New Jersey, bought a house on a quiet suburban street to find relief from the constant rumble and roar of the city. They bought a two-door Ford Galaxie 500 hardtop for the same reason.

"It's easy to drive and amazingly quiet," says Mrs. Serraro. "In fact, we took a trip down to Tom's River right after we got it. My brother-in-law was with us, and he's the finicky one about cars. Well, he kept listening for noises or knocking, and couldn't hear a thing. Finally, he said, 'It rides like a dream.'"

Mr. Serraro made his own quiet discovery. "We were stopped at our local gas station with the window open, and I asked my wife if that was our car making noise. We got out and discovered it was the car next to us. When we got back in, I rolled up the windows, and you couldn't hear a thing. It was remarkable."

The remarkably quiet Ford Galaxie 500 is as easy on the pocketbook as it is on the eyes and ears. In fact, it's one of the big Fords named "Car of the Year for 1973" by Road Test Magazine.

Why not slip quietly down to your local Ford Dealer and test-drive one. You'll see what all the noise is about.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices settled lower again today, extending Thursday's broad declines. Analysts said investors were keeping a close watch on financial ministers' monetary talks in Paris today. A French official talked of good prospects for a broad agreement on strategy to deal with world currency problems.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down about a point, and losers held about a 4-to-3 edge on gains on the New York Stock Exchange.

Quotations by Loeb, Rhoades and Co., members of New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange, Kingston Plaza, Kingston, N. Y. Joseph Garvita, resident manager. Phone 331-1900.

Honor Planned

The Ulster County Division No. 1 of the Ancient Order of the Hibernians will honor Captain William Bradley at their St. Patrick's Eve dinner and dance tonight at the Alpine Restaurant in Kingston.

Bradley, who is president of Local 333 of the Boatman's Union of New York, is also past president of the International Longshoremen's Association. He was instrumental in establishing a shrine dedicated to boatmen at Port Ewen.

Seven Are Injured in Ulster County Fires

KINGSTON — Seven persons were injured in four fires Thursday and early today in Kingston, Bloomington and West Park.

Kingston firefighters were called to 11 Wurts Street today where they found the contents of a bedroom in a first floor apartment in flames.

The five families who occupied the three-story brick structure were evacuated. The occupant of the burning apartment, Katie Parker, was taken shortly before 2 a.m. to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service suffering from smoke inhalation. She was listed in fair condition at the hospital later today.

One firefighter, Lt. Gerald Kelder, received a laceration on his forehead in an extension cord, which required emergency treatment at the hospital.

The six pieces of equipment called to the scene doused the blaze and returned to quarters.

Park suffered from smoke inhalation while attempting to douse a blaze on the second floor of a boys' dormitory. All were treated and released at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

The Esopus Fire Department was called to the scene approximately 1 1/2-hour after the blaze broke out. Damage was reported in a recreation room and an adjoining room. Assistant Fire Chief Ron Bruck said the blaze was "definitely set," and that it was started in rags in one room and in a couch in the recreation room. Highland State Police BCI investigators are continuing an investigation.

Bloomington firefighters well as smoke damage in the rest of the house.

Kingston firefighters also halted a chimney fire Thursday evening at a house owned and occupied by Louis Kline at 105 Millers Lane. A buildup of residue in the chimney was reported the cause. No damage to the house was reported.

Medical Center Fracas, Resolution Enrages Group

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The president of a chapter of the National Organization for Women says the group is enraged over the apparent resolution of an incident involving a woman hospital technician and several legislators and will demand a thorough investigation.

And Assemblyman Clark C. Wemple, R-Schenectady, called on the assemblymen involved in the incident to identify themselves and explain to the public and their colleagues "a multitude of unanswered questions."

Elizabeth Craiglow, president of the Albany chapter NOW, said Thursday the group would go to the governor and the chairman of the Assembly ethics committee about the incident to express "their rage."

Accounts of what took place have varied and neither the woman technician or the assemblymen have been identified.

Three of four assemblymen present were reportedly involved.

The downstate Democratic legislators were reported to have verbally abused and physically harassed the young woman at a special state-funded heart clinic at the Albany Medical Center Hospital, where legislators receive free examinations. The incident was said to have occurred during one of those exams.

Woman Listed In Poor Condition

PHOENICIA — A 40-year-old Phoenicia woman was listed in poor condition in the intensive care unit at Benedictine Hospital today, suffering from injuries incurred in a one-car mishap Thursday evening on Route 28.

Hurley State Police, who investigated, said Florence Bower, of 352 High Street, Phoenicia, was rounding a curve on Route 28 West of Phoenicia when she went off the right side of the road and the vehicle overturned.

On Wednesday, Dr. Thomas L. Hawkins, the hospital director, acknowledged what he said was a written apology from Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut, D-Manhattan, and added that the letter, printed here, satisfied the woman and the hospital.

The woman—interviewed by The Albany Times-Union, which broke the story last week—wanted the matter dropped, Hawkins said.

40th Anniversary for Priest

Francisco Campins, Majorcan tenor, will be guest soloist Sunday, Mar. 18 at our Lady of Fatima Church, Route 32, Plattekill. Tenor Campins' presence is in conjunction with the 40th anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Michael Pascual, C.R., to the priesthood. Father Pascual has been resident priest at Our Lady of Fatima Church since 1965. In December 1958, Tenor Campins was invited to the United States to participate in a benefit at Carnegie Hall, and in the 1959 Summer Pop Concert Series at University of Miami, Fla.

General Augusto DeFloria, an international military figure, will be principal speaker at the testimonial dinner that will begin at 5 p.m. in the new parish hall, on the church campus. A mass, at the church, at 4 p.m., will be concelebrated by Father Michael with 18 priests of the area. One priest will be from Spain. The Rev. Charles E. McMahon of Epiphany College, New Windsor, will preach. A champagne toast will precede the dinner.

Louie Cariola, Unionville Road, Plattekill, will be master of ceremonies. Armando Lopez, Route 32, Plattekill, will give a reading. Mrs. Albina S. Orlovski, Old Mill Road, will be organist.

AAUW Meets March 20

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held on Tuesday, March 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bonanza Branch Heritage Savings Bank, Route 9W, North, Kingston. The program is entitled "Women's Lib." Hostesses will be Mrs. Clifton Hyman and Mrs. Dan Van Wagenen.

The March Board meeting was held Thursday night, Mar. 15, 8:00 p.m. at the home of Bernadette Gaudette. The nominating committee submitted the proposed slate of officers for next year. This slate will be voted on at the regular membership meeting in April.

Interest and study groups have been busy: Mrs. Charles Stott was hostess to the Bridge Group, Tuesday, Mar. 13 at 7:30 p.m., and the Library Group met the same date at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Edna Vickers, chairman of the Child Abuse Study Group, has announced that Mrs. Dorothy Lafferty, YWCA Program Director, has invited the group to present their Panel Discussion at a Public Affairs Program at the YWCA, Monday, Apr. 16, 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Mar. 7, Mrs. Walter Broughton represented the Study Group on local television on a program about "Child Abuse." Mrs. Maureen Grahame, Supervisor of Children's Division of Social Services, Ulster County, and Mrs. Broughton appeared on "Mid Hudson Mid-Morning" and were interviewed by Mike Fisher of Kingston Cablevision's Channel 2.

The Literary Group plans to assemble at the Robbins Library, Katsbaan, Tuesday, Mar. 27 at 1 p.m. Professor Edward Sklepovich of the English Faculty at SUNY Albany will discuss "To Smithereens" by Rosalind Drexler. The works of Anaïs Nin, especially her novel, "The Seduction of the Minotaur", may be discussed at a meeting in April. The following meeting on Monday, Apr. 9, will focus on the novel, "Rabbit Redux," the sequel to "Rabbit Run," and the collection of short stories, "Pigeon Feathers," by John Updike. To lead this discussion the guest will be Professor Rudolph Nelson, also from SUNY, Albany.

Mrs. Richard Muller is the newly appointed chairman of PREP. Her committee met at her home March 5 and is planning to meet again on April 2.

Five members will serve as delegates from Kingston AAUW to the United Nations Seminar, New York City, Wednesday and Thursday, Mar. 28 and 29.

Mrs. Paul Johnson, president, and four other members are traveling to Albany for five Tuesdays to the New York State Legislative Forum, 10:00 a.m. to noon.

March 13 — "Social Services, Legislative Proposals," Abe Levine, N.Y. State Dept. of Social Services;

March 20 — "The Environment, Noise Pollution" — Dr. Frederick Haag, Noise Control;

March 27 — "Reform of the Legislature" — Emanuel Gold, Roland Stafford.

April 3 — "The Future of Public Education in New York State", Ewald Nyquist, New York State Dept. of Education; April 10 — "Status of State Employees in New York State", Dr. Theodore Wenzl, President, Civil Service Employees Association; 12:30 — President's Luncheon, "Implications of Social Legislation on the Family and on Community."

Mrs. Joseph Traficanti reports that the Stone Ridge-Kingston Couples Gourmet Group enjoyed a French dinner March 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoornbeck; the Singles Group is planning dinner at Fort Restaurant, New Paltz, on March 25.

Slate Spring Bazaar By Sisterhood Here

The annual Spring Bazaar sponsored by Sisterhood Ahavath Israel will be held April 7-10 at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, Kingston. Mrs. Henry Jacobs is bazaar chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ephraim Propp and Mrs. George Jacobson, co-chairmen.

The bazaar will feature all new merchandise: yard goods, sewing supplies, jewelry and clothing. There will be a bake sale, carnival-type games, and refreshments.

Maxine Wingate, a talented local artist, will sketch charcoal portraits on Saturday, April 7, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. On Sunday, hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m.; Monday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.; Tuesday, 10 to noon. There will be no admission charge.

Summer Wedding Plans Being Made

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Countryman of 110 Montgomery Street, Rhinebeck, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol, to William V. Klare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Klare of Jordan Lane Farm, Pine Plains.

Miss Countryman, who resides at 12 Deming Street in Woodstock, was graduated from Rhinebeck High School, State University of New York at Cortland, and has done graduate work at University of Arizona and Colorado State University. She is teaching Physical Education at Ontario Central School, Boiceville.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Pine Plains High School, attended University of Vermont, and served four years in the U.S. Navy. He is employed at the New York Air Traffic Control Center as a air traffic control radar specialist.

A summer wedding is planned.

Tiny Tips

Bonded Fabrics

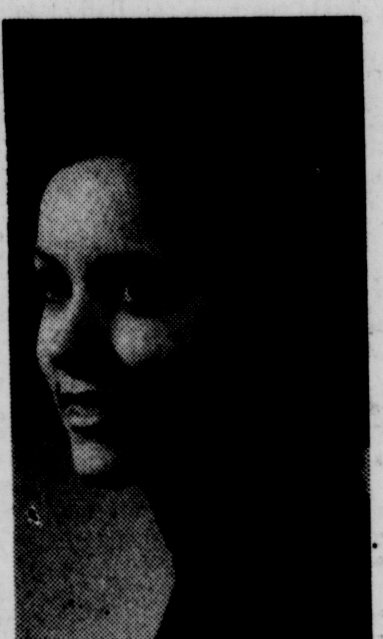

Bonded fabrics consist of two or more joined layers of material, at least one of which is a textile.

Cleaning Washers

Clean the exterior of your washer and dryer. Wipe it with a cloth or sponge dipped in warm suds and squeezed.

Static Electricity

Plastics and fabrics made of silk, wool and synthetic fibers tend to accumulate static electricity, especially during cold, dry weather.

Bus Trip

The Town of Ulster Senior Citizens Club is sponsoring a bus trip to the Radio City Easter Show March 26. The bus will leave the Montgomery Ward parking lot promptly at 8 a.m.

All senior citizens 60 years or older of the Town of Ulster may participate. John Boughton, chairman, may be contacted for reservations and further information.

Speaker Named

Miss Ellen Donovan, first assistant to District Attorney Francis Vogt, will be guest speaker at the Wednesday, Mar. 21, meeting of the Ulster County Federation of Women's Republican Clubs. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston. Miss Donovan's topic will be "Consumer Fraud."

Club President Mrs. Brendon D. Alexander invites all interested citizens to attend. Mrs. Alexander feels the subject matter should aid homemakers in becoming more competent in staying within budgets while still providing the best for the family.

Course Scheduled

The Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services, School of Practical Nursing, in cooperation with the Licensed Practical Nurses of New York, Inc., Ulster County Division, will sponsor a course in "Fundamentals of Medications and Dosages for Licensed Practical Nurses." The course will be held at Kingston Hospital beginning Wednesday, Mar. 28, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and continuing each Wednesday for 10 weeks.

The course is offered to enable the licensed practical nurse to reinforce and update her knowledge of drug therapy. It will include a basic review of mathematics involved in dosages, define the body responses to drugs used for specific disorders, and explore the nursing implications including legal aspects.

Registration is limited. Forms and payment must be returned by March 21 to Mrs. Beverly Delano, 29 Grand Street, Kingston.

Coffee Break Day

Mrs. John R. Shults Jr., chairman of the March 30 Coffee Day Break, sponsored by the Auxiliary of Kingston Hospital, has announced that the scope of activities for the day has been expanded to include financial institutions and business establishments throughout the greater Kingston area.

Many local banks and industrial facilities will set up "coffeebreak stations" and donate all contributions collected toward the Auxiliary pledge for the Cardio-Vascular Diagnostic Unit at Kingston Hospital. Mrs. William Rylance and Mrs. David Rylance will be in charge of setting up the coffee in financial institutions. Mrs. Amos Newcombe and Mrs. S. James Matthews will head the business division.

Mini-Mites

The Mini-Mites Home Extension group of Blue Mountain held its March meeting at the home of Barbara Hinckley. Sharyn Sullivan served as co-hostess.

A lesson on the origin and preparation of teas and coffee was given by Lois Smith, after which the business meeting was held. JoAnn Ryan presided in the absence of President Joyce Grossi.

An Easter egg hunt for members' children is planned for Saturday, Apr. 14, with rain date Sunday, Apr. 15. Corine Cochran is chairman. After the meeting, a discussion of desserts and their caloric values was led by Lois Smith. Desserts included in the discussion were served by the hostess and co-hostess.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Apr. 5. Co-hostesses will be Joyce Johnson and Mary Lou Cartwright.

Card Party, Games

A card party and evening of games will be held at the Legion Hall, Stone Ridge, Friday, Mar. 23. Games will start promptly at 8 p.m. Proceeds will be used for projects for hospitalized veterans. It is hoped the public will support this event. Awards will be presented to each person attending. Refreshments will be included in the small donation at the door.

Mrs. Marion Ostrander is serving as chairman, assisted by Auxiliary members. A card party is planned April 28 for the benefit of the Senior Citizens Club of Marletown.

Grange Meeting

Lake Katrine Grange No. 1065 will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Mar. 19, beginning at 8 p.m. All Grangers are welcome.

PWP Activities

Parents Without Partners No. 383 will hold their Drop-In Discussion Sunday, Mar. 18, at 2 p.m. at the home of Dolores Lang. A coffee and conversation is planned for Thursday, Mar. 22, at 8 p.m. at the residence of Beth Olsson. On Saturday, Mar. 24, a dance will take place at a Chef JoMar's in Highland beginning at 9 p.m.

Additional information concerning all events may be obtained by contacting PWP in Lomontville.

Spaghetti Supper

Rondout Valley Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold a spaghetti supper Saturday, Apr. 7 at Methodist Church, corner of Route 209 and Schoonmaker Lane, Stone Ridge. Servings will be continuously from 5 to 7 p.m. Proceeds will be used to send members to a spring retreat at Epworth, and for other programs.

To Meet Monday

The Town of Esopus Senior Citizens will meet in the Town Hall, Port Ewen, Monday, Mar. 19, at 1:30 p.m. Time schedule for the Thursday, Mar. 22 bus trip to Radio City Music Hall will be announced at the meeting.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: When fixing rhubarb for sauce after cutting it up, put it in a flat pan and freeze it.

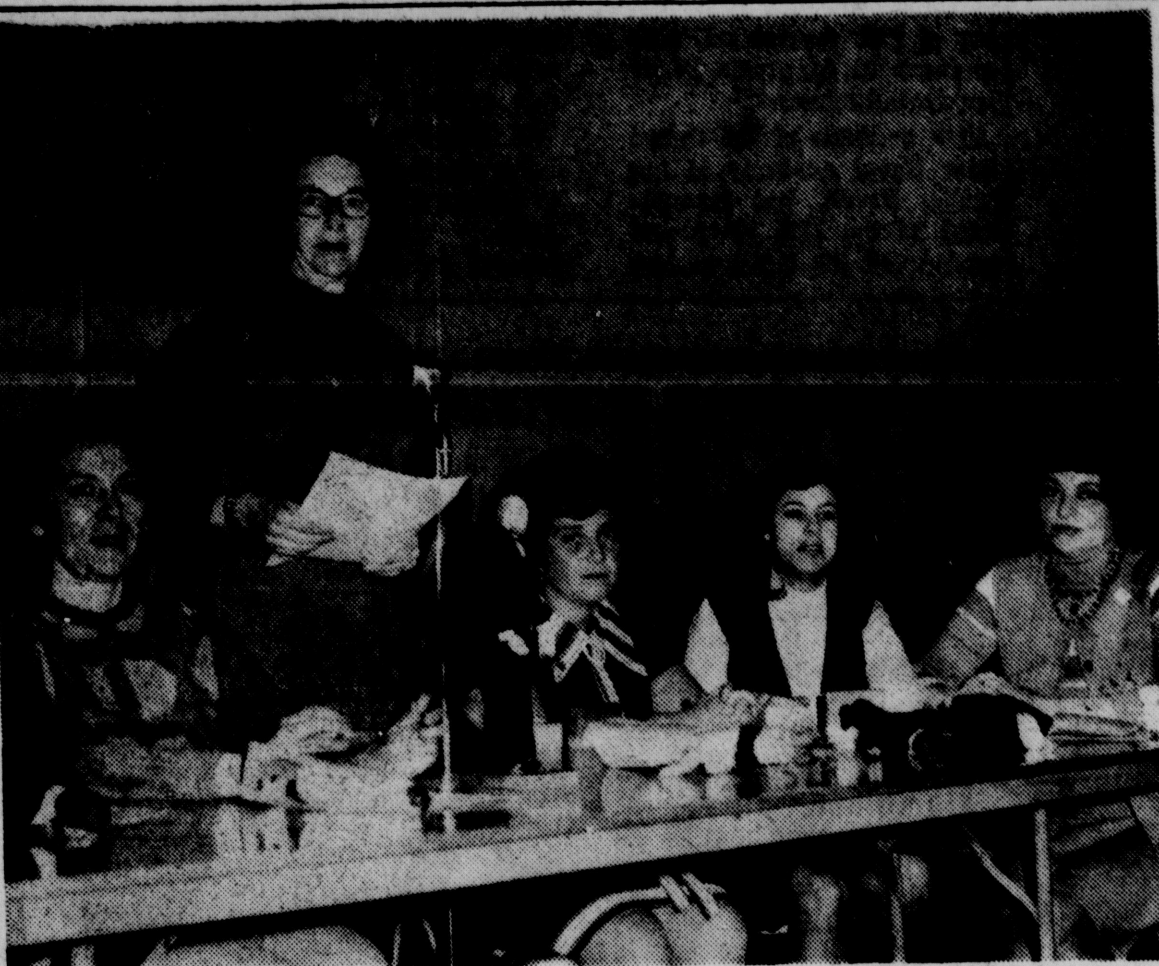

Then bring sugar and water to a rapid boil — drop the frozen rhubarb in, but don't overcook. Each piece will stay whole — not mushy. I add a few cinnamon candies for a delightful taste and color.

Claire S.

Dear Heloise: You can save by making your own skin freshener. Combine white hazel and rose water (slightly more of the latter so you get that good smell). They can both be bought inexpensively by the pint at most any drug store. This mixture is especially good to apply with a cotton pad after using cleansing cream.

Mrs. W. E. Harnish

DOLLS FOR DEMOCRACY — Zephaniah Chapter 399 of B'nai B'rith Women of Kingston, presented their program "Dolls for Democracy" program in St. Peter's School, Rosendale, on March 8. Their dolls represented the famous personalities Abraham Lincoln, Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Jonas Salk, Marian Anderson, John F. Kennedy and Florence Nightingale. Participating in the program were (L-R) Mrs. Edwin Kalish, Mrs. Leonard Rachmilowicz, Mrs. George Levine, Mrs. Michael Zackheim and Mrs. David Weinstein, president of the organization. Also participating in the program was Mrs. Abe Meisner. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Pageant Deadline Is March 19

One thousand reserved seats go on sale this week for the 18th edition of the Miss Ulster County Scholarship Pageant to be held Saturday, Apr. 7 at 8 p.m. in Saugerties High School auditorium.

Lois A. Buchan, ticket chairman, announced that all seats will be reserved. Mrs. Buchan may be reached by phone at 5 Hemlock Court, Saugerties.

Mrs. Buchan said hundreds of letters with reservation forms have been mailed to regular patrons and these should be returned in the self-addressed envelope with check and the reserved seats ordered will be returned by mail. Seat selections may also be made by telephone.

The Pageant Show produced again this year by George Leombruno, has been critiqued as one of the best pageant shows in the state.

Although the series of Pageant Orientation is completed, there is still time to become a contestant.

There are two pre-Pageant clinics scheduled prior to first rehearsals. The first Monday, Mar. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Saugerties High School auditorium will be the last chance to file a pageant application.

The rehearsal schedule is as follows: Monday, Mar. 26; Wednesday, Mar. 28; Monday, Apr. 2; Wednesday, Apr. 4 and Dress Rehearsal, Friday, Apr. 6, all at Saugerties High School auditorium and all starting at 7:30 p.m.

Rehearsals are open only to contestants, chaperones and pageant committee.

Prospective contestants may still contact Entries Chairman Richard A. Aguanno, 26 Louis Avenue, Saugerties.

The Pageant offers $1,000 in scholarship money awarded to the winners, silver trophies, charm bracelets and other valuable considerations.

The winner will represent Ulster County in the State Pageant at Olean in July. This is a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City.

10TH ANNIVERSARY — The Greater Kingston Welcome Wagon Club observed its 10th anniversary on March 13. Among those attending the celebration were (L-R) Mrs. James Thompson, club president; Mrs. Charles Selzo, hostess advisor, who was instrumental in organizing the club in 1963; Mrs. Marion Nau, first vice president; and Mrs. Gerald Beinhower, second vice president. Food Tips

DEVILED EGGS

Dry mustard, vinegar and Worcestershire sauce are good to add, along with mayonnaise, when you are deviling eggs.

SEAFOOD SAUCE

For a sauce to go with seafood, mix catchup, sweet pickle relish, lemon juice, horseradish and Worcestershire sauce.

HEATED APPLE CIDER

Heat apple cider with whole allspice, whole cloves and a cinnamon stick. Serve hot in mugs.

As you read this ad, there will be great excitement in Saugerties on Main Street. Ann and Bea will be dressed in elegance and happily 'showing off' their new shop... and wishing you were there, too!

Past Has Left Its Mark on Her

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has had two illegitimate children which I gave up for adoption. I am sorry to say that I am pregnant again, and I plan to give this one up for adoption too, because the father of my children can't marry me. He was sent to prison, then I found out he had a wife and five kids he never told me about, so maybe it's just as well that things worked out this way.

I want to put my past behind me and start a new life. Abby, but here is my problem. I have very bad stretch marks on my stomach as a result of my pregnancies. They look terrible and I want to get rid of them.

I have been advised that if I meet someone who wants to marry me I should not mention my past, but with these stretch marks it would be a dead giveaway. Also, I would like to be able to wear a two-piece bathing suit. Can you help me? Or am I?

SCARRED FOR LIFE
DEAR ABBY: A plastic surgeon can tell you if your stretch marks can be removed. And in the meantime you had better learn how to take care of yourself. I think you've been stretching your luck too far.

DEAR ABBY: I am so worried about my grandson who is 14. Tonight his mother telephoned me long distance in such a weakened state I could hardly understand her. Her 14-year-old son had struck her and beaten her violently with his fists. In the past he has lied and stolen from her, but no amount of punishment helped. Tonight he all but put my poor daughter in the hospital.

She has two children. The little girl is an angel, but this boy is I fear a mental case when angered. He is big and strong for his age and I am afraid one day he will seriously injure or kill some member of the family. Both children are adopted (different parents): could it be hereditary? Please tell me how I can help her? Her husband travels a great deal and she cannot handle the boy.

HEARTSICK
DEAR HEARTSICK: Tell your daughter to get in touch with her local Mental Health Association, or the County Child Welfare Department, and arrange to have her son psychiatrically evaluated. Assure her that she would not be punishing the boy; she would be helping a desperately sick lad.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with a darling, affectionate little seven-year-old daughter. A very nice gentleman I met at work asked to take me out for dinner, and I was thrilled to pieces. When he came to pick me up my little girl hung on his neck and said, "Are you going to be my new daddy?"

The gentleman turned red in the face and said, "Well, we have to be going now." I could see he was embarrassed and upset, and even tho I enjoyed the evening and he seemed to, he has never asked me out again.

What can I do to save the relationship?

26-YEAR-OLD WIDOW
DEAR WIDOW: You could invite him to accompany you to something, but if he appears reluctant, don't press it. And if you don't want to scare off future prospects, you'd better tell your little girl what not to say.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FULL OF PIMPLES"
Surely you jest! The advice of your more "experienced" friends on how to get rid of pimples is worse than worthless. It's dangerous. Forget it, or you could find yourself with something much worse than pimples.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Thinking New Kitchen?

Think Karpy

Karpy has won many designer awards for beautiful kitchens. But equally important, our kitchens work beautifully, too. They're custom-designed. Nothing modular, nothing pre-cut. That means we can give you cabinets that are never out of reach; counters that are just the right height for you; shelves that are specially planned for every piece of dinnerware you own, and cookware, too. We can put it all together in Early American, Country French or English Tudor, Mediterranean, modern or any atmosphere you choose. First, we give you a drawing of your kitchen complete with prices. After that, it's meticulously hand-crafted in our own workshops and woods are hand-rubbed to a deep, rich glow. Once your Karpy kitchen is installed, we know it will not only look great, it will serve you well. So well, in fact, that we guarantee it in writing for a lifetime. Find out why a Karpy kitchen is a very special kitchen. Visit our magnificent showrooms or phone for a consultation. There's no obligation so do it today.

Candidacy Announced

ULSTER
The candidacy of Town of Ulster Democrat Kenneth Dargis for the Ulster County Legislature has been announced.
Town Democratic Chairman Richard H. De Lorenzo said the Democratic town committee "stands solidly behind this progressive young Democrat. Dargis has demonstrated a willingness to expend his personal efforts and time in the interest of his community at large."

Dargis said he bases his candidacy on his desire to represent a community "which has expressed a need for sincere individual dedication to the purpose of just government, with representation for people, rather than special interests."

As a graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Dargis was commissioned in the U.S. Navy and rounded out his naval assignments with a 12-month tour of duty in Vietnam, in 1968, during which time he participated in five campaigns, including the 'Tet Offensive.'

For service as special advisor to Vietnamese forces and a U.S. Advisory team, he was commended by General Creighton Abrams, commander, U.S. Forces, Vietnam. In addition, Dargis received the Navy commendation medal with 'V' device, for service with the U.S. Naval forces, Vietnam.

Upon completion of service Dargis accepted a position as a technical representative for E. I. DuPont de Nemour and Company, Inc. In two years he was advanced to the position he now holds as technical marketing representative.

He resides with his wife Patricia, and three children on Lainey Lane.

Snow Budgets... Surplus Looms

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON With the winter season ended, barring some highly unusual weather, the snow removal situation for the City of Kingston and the Ulster County Highway Department looks monetarily bright for 1973.

The relatively minor amount of snow which fell in the area since the first of the year might cause some to wonder if there ever actually was a winter. And the mildness of the season is attested to by amount of money remaining in the city and county snow removal budgets for 1973.

In Kingston, $105,000 was appropriated for snow removal for the calendar year, and by March 1 only $27,809.37 of the total had been spent. This figure, which represents approximately 26.5 per cent of the total budget for the year, is well below that which would be spent during a "normal" year. According to Charles J. Cole, superintendent of public works, two-thirds of the yearly budget is normally spent during the first two months of the year.

The remaining money is spent for repairs on equipment, and during the early winter months later in the year.

"There could be a considerable (snow removal) budget surplus provided next winter isn't unusual," Cole told The Freeman. "It all depends on the Great Man up above... and we can't predict that."

If there is a snow removal budget surplus at the end of the year, it could mean a saving for city residents. Or should a deficit appear in another section of the budget, the surplus could be used to cover the deficit, Cole said.

For snow removal on county roads, the Ulster County Highway Department had spent approximately $192,000 between Jan. 1 and March 1. Compared with last year, this represents $75,000 less than spent during the same period. "And that's with increased costs and all," said County Superintendent of Highways, Jose Camallonga Jr.

Some winters the cost for the same period has been as high as $350,000. But this year, with $872,000 appropriated for snow removal on county roads, approximately $680,000 still remains to be spent should the need arise when winter returns.

"If we have a mild winter next year, any monies left over would go into the county road fund surplus, and would be deducted from the amount of funds which have to be raised for 1974," Camallonga said.

Camallonga cautioned against making any assumptions, however. "We don't know what will happen next November or December," he said.

Both in the city and the county much of the money spent went to cover the cost of chemical sanding or salt treatments. In the county, this operation is more expensive than plowing, because not only must the trucks go out, but materials have to be purchased, according to Camallonga.

In the city the most costly operation, according to Cole, is snow removal. This winter only two storms left snow that had to be removed.

Camallonga pointed out that there were times this winter

WEST HURLEY For 21 years, Numrich Arms' fiery cannon—standing guard on a small knoll overlooking Route 28 between Kingston and West Hurley—has served as a beacon of sorts for countless westbound travelers. With the predictability of an Old Faithful, its muzzle has exploded a combination of smoke and flame 21,600 times a day; seven million times a year.

Since the cannon was first installed in 1952 as an advertising gimmick for "America's largest gun store," it has "fired" more than 150 million times. Now, after 21 years of faithful service, Numrich Arms officials say the cannon will be "retired" to the military museum at West Point.

So one of these March days—when its current supply of fuel oil disappears—the Numrich cannon will stand noticeably silent. What started in 1952 as a bright flash will end soon with a smoky sputter.

Ira Trast, vice-president and treasurer of Numrich Arms, told The Freeman that the 57-millimeter anti-tank gun is being retired for "ecological" reasons. It seems that Numrich Arms has received some complaints of late about the excess smoke that belches from the cannon's muzzle. Company officials, cognizant of the ever-increasing concern over air pollution, decided to muzzle their landmark.

But that's not quite the end of this story. There's a bit of history connected to the old relic that dates back to the days of World War II.

According to Trast, the gun trademark for two decades, was given to England under the "lend lease" program before the United States entered the war, and saw considerable combat service in the European Theatre. The gun escaped unscathed, and was later purchased by Numrich Arms.

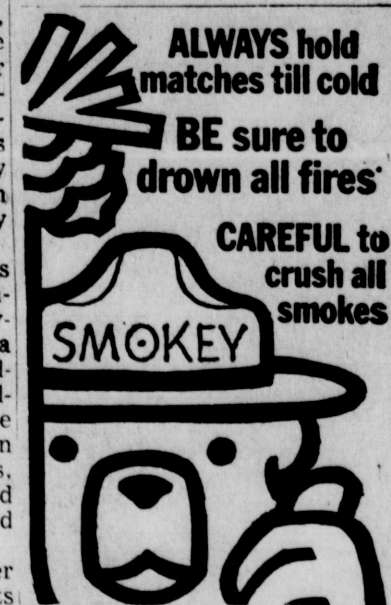

Numrich Arms was founded in 1949 by George Numrich, and had its main office in the Westchester County community of Mamaroneck. In 1951, the entire outfit — and the cannon — moved to its present location on Williams Lane in West Hurley.

With an ingenuity that would put any latter-day Madison Avenue mogul to shame, someone at Numrich Arms outfitted the cannon with a ten-gallon fuel tank, installed a cut-off valve in the muzzle lit a match and stood back as the battered orange cannon spewed smoke and fire for the next 21 years.

With that same cannon as its trademark for two decades, Numrich Arms grew to the largest gun parts manufacturer in the world and the largest independent gun barrel manufacturer in the United States. Its three warehouses in West Hurley contain more than 38 million parts foreign, domestic, military and commercial weapons.

Numrich Arms manufactures the famed Thompson sub-machine gun (for military and government purposes only) and a vast assortment of muzzle-loading rifles. Numrich muzzle-loaders, in fact, were used on the old "Daniel Boone" television series and the arsenal of rifles, cannon and machine guns used at Numrich Arms outfitted the on "Rat Patrol" were supplied cannon with a ten-gallon fuel tank, installed a cut-off valve in the muzzle lit a match and achieved such prominence. Our Senators Decided to Stay

By IRA FUSFELD

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — An intriguing fact of NJCAA basketball tournament life is the maze they call the bracket. Branching out in two directions and with enough slots to encompass 26 games, it somehow determines a champion and 11 bridesmaids with a system that would make Einstein proud.

So complicated is the tourney set-up, that Ulster County Community College's basketball team, which Thursday posted an inspiring 82-80 win over Dalton to remain alive in the event, can now finish as high as fourth place and even come out ahead of Mercer, the team that beat the Senators Wednesday night.

Ulster plays its final game on Saturday afternoon at 3:45 p.m. EST against the winner of today's North Greenville, S. C. — Bacone, Okla. contest. To the victor goes fourth place. To the loser goes seventh place.

Mercer, meanwhile, plays in the semi-finals tonight. If the Vikings lose, then are beaten again in Saturday night's consolation game, Mercer finishes sixth, or conceivably below a team it knocked off.

Sounds confusing and it is. But Hutchinson News sports writer Fred Mendell defends it: "It is obviously unfair for a team which might be potentially second best in a tournament to meet the ultimate championship team in the first round and have no chance to finish better than a tie for eighth place."

Mendell explains that a bracket like the one in effect here gives a team like Ulster the incentive to make the long trip from New York. It takes two losses, not one, to send a team home. And it has now put the Senators in the position to finish high up on the ladder.

The bracket, however, only lays the groundwork. You've got to win to take advantage of it and that's what hardly anyone figured Ulster would do when it lined up against Dalton, less than 24 hours after the disastrous defeat to Mercer.

"The difference between last night and today is that we went with three big men in the zone," said Ulster coach Mike Perry after the Senators had played give and take with the difficult Georgians, then held on to stave off a furious Dalton charge in the closing seconds. "We put (Bob) Miller and (Coleman) Link on the baseline. We put (Steve) Richardson in the middle. We had much more defense going for us with the size (Jackie) Knowles and (Ike) Chestnut out front played real good defense too. They made the other team work."

Part of the reason for the added size in the Ulster lineup was Henry Nixon's second straight poor game. Following up Wednesday's six point effort, Nixon failed to net a single bucket and was benched early by the UCCC mentor.

"Nixon wasn't doing anything," observed Perry, "and they were penetrating well on us in the beginning of the game on the 1-2-2. When I took Nixon out, rather than go with the normal substitute, (Val) Williams or (Lenoris) Clemons, I said the hell with it, I'm gonna go with the 2-1-2. Richardson gave us more size and I moved Link to a wing on offense. He normally plays the baseline on offense, but here we have three big men when we put him on the wing because he does have range and can two losses, not one, to send a team home. And it has now put the Senators in the position to finish high up on the ladder.

The third big man was Bobby Miller, who turned in his third straight outstanding effort, this time in a starting role.

"He played a super ballgame for a kid who never played a minute of high school ball," Perry declared. "I think Jerry (Moss), the UCCC assistant coach, has to get the credit. He worked on him psychologically and he helped him with his shot."

Miller pulled down 16 rebounds to tie Link for game honors. He also tossed in 11 points and was valuable as an intimidating force.

Most of the Ulster offense came from Chestnut, who bagged 26, the most he's ever had in a Senator uniform. Knowles, who rebounded from a poor game against Mercer to penetrate and hit for 18 points and nine assists; and Link who recorded 19 points.

Despite the production, Ulster didn't have an easy time. Dalton was a team that had carried Vincennes down to the final moments before succumbing and had been among the top quintets in the country in an early season poll. The Roadrunners boasted two super guards in George Jackson and Harold Albany, as well as a lanky center in Harold Hicks.

For the game Dalton shot 51 per cent from the field while Ulster connected only 39 per cent of the time. But the Senators controlled the boards, committed only 10 turnovers, and, most importantly, benefitted from Roadrunner fouls. UCCC put in three less field goals than did Dalton, but the Senators converted eight more foul shots to make up the difference.

The lead changed hands seven times and the game was tied 18 times. Whenever one team appeared on its way to a sizeable advantage, the other came back.

Buckets by Link and Richardson and two Knowles' foul shots gave UCCC a six-point edge late in the first half, then Dalton quickly hit three deuces and the score was tied at intermission.

The second half remained even until Dalton began its most serious threat of the game with 12:52 left. The Roadrunners outscored Ulster 11-2 during a three-minute stretch and could have nailed the lid on the Senators' tourney coffin.

Instead, Chestnut fired in a bomb from the left of the key;

Knowles danced his way up the middle and layed in a twister; and Link notched one from the corner. That made it 63-61 Dalton.

Moments later, still down by two, Ulster evened things on a Link layup and went ahead when Knowles converted a technical foul called when a Dalton player interfered with the net. The clock showed 7:07 when Knowles converted a technical foul called when a Dalton player interfered with the net. The clock showed 7:07 when Knowles converted a technical foul called when a Dalton player interfered with the net.

But the cool almost caved in. Knowles threw it away and Dalton missed the shot, Miller coming up with a big rebound. Dalton, however, took it right back and scored on a Jackson drive with seven seconds left. Ulster called time, five seconds.

On the inbound play, the Senators merely had to hold the ball, but Miller's toss-in was fumbled out of bounds by Knowles, Jackie claiming he was fouled.

"The ref said 'I saw it man, but I couldn't call it,'" Jackie recalled later. Knowles had the last word. Dalton got the ball to Jackson for what it hoped would be the tying basket, one which would send the game into overtime. But Jackson, the top regular season scorer in the tour-ament, missed, his jumper hitting the back of the rim at the buzzer.

"I was wringing his arm and they didn't call it," Knowles admitted. That bit of byplay completed a game which followed the pattern of an entire tournament; the officials are letting them "play?"

"They beat you up out there," Knowles asserted. "One little dude said to me, 'I'm gonna get you because they're not calling anything.'"

Coach Perry had no complaints. His team won what he called the "biggest" game in school history and is still alive in the tourney. And the Senate Gym trophy case is going to have to be cleared for the largest prize, either a fourth or seventh place NJCAA bauble.

TOURNEY TALK — Hutchinson and Olney, Ill., made it to tonight's semi-final round when Hutch stopped North Greenville, 99-90, and Olney whipped Bacone, 89-64. Olney meets Hutch and Mercer faces Vincennes in the semis. . . In other games, Three Rivers, Mo., eliminated McLennan, Tex., 100-74; Paducah, Ky., knocked out Dixie, Utah, 84-75; and Brevard, Fla., stopped Burlington, Iowa, 93-85.

To OTB Proposal

Howie Reacts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Howard Samuel, president and board chairman of the city's Off-Track Betting Corp., has reacted sharply to a Governor Rockefeller-appointed commission's proposal that off-track betting be severely limited and placed under state control and that a single state agency coordinate all forms of the sport.

The nine-member Delafield

Commission, charged by the governor last July with studying the long-range outlook for racing in the state, issued a 153-page report concluding that "horse racing is in a weakened condition largely because of off-track betting."

"For the commission to recommend a state takeover of O T B now that OTB is generating more than $1 million profit each week and can be a source of significant revenue for other municipalities is unbelievable," said Samuel in a sharply worded statement.

Charles B. Delafield, chairman of the governor's commission, said that "OTB should emphasize exotic wagering — bets involving three or more horses, such as twin-double, perfectas, etc."

In defense of his plan which in effect would compel bettors to patronize tracks to make their win, place and show wagers, Delafield said:

"You can't have all the fans in OTB parlors and expect horse racing to survive in this state."

Two members of the commission urged repeal of the OTB law.

Bruins, Stars Climb to No. 2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins and Minnesota North Stars have been trying harder lately and Thursday night they both got to be No. 2.

The offensive-minded Bruins, highest scoring team in the National Hockey League, did it with defense to beat the Buffalo Sabres 4-1 while the North Stars, who have one of the best goals against records in their division, pumped a record-tying 57 shots at Toronto goalie Ron Low and whipped the Maple Leafs 5-2.

And when the ice shavings had settled, the Bruins had climbed into a second-place tie in the East Division with the idle New York Rangers while the North Stars inched one point past equally idle Philadelphia in the West. Buffalo's setback left the Sabres still one point behind Detroit in the race for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East.

In the World Hockey Association, the Minnesota Fighting Saints and Los Angeles Sharks remained tied for third place in the West. The Saints outgated the Chicago Cougars 7-4 while the Sharks chewed up the New York Raiders 6-2.

Warriors Hit Season High 141

By United Press International

Golden State hopes it can keep running right into the playoffs.

The Warriors hit their season high in whipping the Houston Rockets 141-125 at Oakland Thursday night in the lone National Basketball Association game. Golden State was relaxed after clinching a playoff berth earlier in the week and sizzled with a .612 shooting percentage.

Guard Jeff Mullins paced the Warriors' balanced attack with 26 points. Teammate Rick Barry added 25 points, nine rebounds and a personal season-high of 13 assists, mostly off fast breaks.

"The reason we had such a high field goal percentage is that our fast break was really going and we were getting easy layups," said the Warrior scoring leader. "Those inside belly baskets will kill a team."

"This is the kind of game we are capable of having when we're moving. We're a running team, and we're at our best when we play our type of game."

Houston forward Rudy Tomjanovich equalled his season high of 37 points while teammate Mike Newlin chipped in with 28.

The victory was the 45th of the season for the Warriors. Counting tonight's game at Seattle, the Warriors must win six of their remaining eight games to equal last season's all-time team high of 51 victories.

FOULS OUT: Coach Egan (technical) Total fouls: Houston 15, Golden State 18 A-4997.

NFA at Ulster

All but one of the four finalists which will compete in the Section Nine Open championships at Ulster County Community College Saturday have been decided. The remaining berth will be filled tonight when undefeated and top-ranked Cornwall High School takes on Monticello for the Class B crown at Monroe-Woodbury.

The Saturday afternoon-evening doubleheader at UCCC will lead off at 1 p.m. with AA champ Newburgh facing A winner Suffern. At 7 p.m., Fallsburgh, which won the C class, will go against the B winner.

Ike Chestnut... The Unsung Hero

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — When Ike Chestnut has been called upon to score this season he's done just that. But never was his offensive touch needed more than in Ulster County Community College's last two basketball games.

Chestnut, a freshman from Philadelphia, put in 25 points when the Senators were beaten by Mercer Wednesday. That night, however, he was all alone since Henry Nixon, Jackie Knowles, and Coleman Link failed to provide him with any help.

Against Dalton Thursday, the 6-2 guard tallied a career high 26 points, including 11 valuable markers in the last 10 minutes. With Link and Knowles back in form, Chestnut had only to make up for Nixon's sudden slump and Ulster had a most impressive NJCAA tournament victory.

Chestnut has not been hitting for good percentage (10 for 26 the first night and 10 for 25 the second), but as he said after the Senators had won their second game of the tourney, "I'm forced to shoot because of the absence of Henry Nixon from the lineup."

So Ike keeps pumping in the 25-footers and the crowds in the Sports Arena keep asking the same question: "Who is this guy?"

"Ike is an unsung hero," responded coach Mike Perry. "He's just there automatically. He's not a showy type of player. He's just there."

How Chestnut got "there" is an interesting story. The 22-year-old Pennsylvanian graduated from Mastbaum Tech in Philly in 1967 and despite good grades chose not to go to college.

"I talked it over with a few people and decided that I wasn't ready. I was too young. I didn't know which direction I was headed. I think now I'm aware of it."

Instead of school, Chestnut picked the Navy. He signed up in 1968 for a four-year hitch during which time he specialized in intelligence work and basketball.

Then last summer, just before his tour was over, Ike was stationed in Hawaii and met Mike Perry, there to visit his brother and take in the Olympic basketball trials.

"I met the coach (Perry) through a friend," Chestnut recalled. "He talked to him about me and eventually we met and he talked me into going to Ulster."

Chestnut had planned on going to school near Philadelphia, but Perry got him a job as a counselor at an upstate New York basketball camp, showed him around the Ulster campus, and convinced him about Stone Ridge.

As a student, Ike has been super all year, making the dean's list on his first try. As a player it took Chestnut a while to gain Super Senator status, but once he got in the groove he's improved with each outing. Chestnut responds to talk of his not coming back next year with a definite maybe.

"I still haven't decided yet," he admitted. "I'm waiting to see what happens with my family. If I'm needed near home, I'll transfer to a college in Philadelphia, but if everything's going well, I'm coming back to Ulster."

Chestnut makes no bones about the fact that he's a student first, basketball player second. Only a last minute decision prompted him to travel to Kansas with the team and when he's not playing, he's most often holed up in his hotel room here catching up on his studies.

Ike is eyeing a teaching career, says he'll go to an Eastern college when he finishes two-year school, and doesn't see basketball in his future.

"It really is more important to graduate and be on the dean's list than play basketball," said Perry, an admission some might find hard to accept coming from the Ulster coach. But he's sincere in his feelings toward Chestnut and will stand behind any decision Ike makes.

For the present, Perry is glad Chestnut will be wearing a Senator uniform when his team plays Saturday for fourth place in the tournament. And if they do it, much of the credit will have to go to Ike Chestnut.

Long Beach Master Plan Goes Up in Smoke

BY JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Long Beach State's master plan for upsetting college basketball kingpin UCLA went up in smoke Thursday night thanks to an unheralded band from Northern California.

Long Beach, tired of its second billing to UCLA on the West Coast, had hoped to change all that in the NCAA tournament. But the University of San Francisco destroyed the plan, upsetting the third-ranked 49ers 77-67 in the NCAA Western Regional semifinals.

San Francisco now takes on UCLA, which opened a bid for an unprecedented seventh straight NCAA title with a 98-81 victory over Arizona State.

Mike Quick scored 17 of his 25 points in the second half as San Francisco, humiliated in last year's tournament by Long Beach, got sweet revenge. The Dons led Long Beach 37-31 at the half and Quick, a 6-foot-3 senior, scored eight points in the first four minutes of the second half to break open the game. The San Francisco defense also held Ed Ratleff, the 49ers' All America guard, to just 12 points.

Phil Smith added 20 points for the Dons and Kevin Restani hit 18.

"We got whipped good," said Jerry Tarkanian, the Long Beach coach. "Ratleff jammed two fingers on his shooting hand early in the week and hurt a finger on his left hand early in the game tonight. But give Phil Smith the credit for doing an outstanding defensive job on him. San Francisco did an outstanding job of defending us. They forced us into taking more bad shots than usual."

"We weren't patient enough," Tarkanian added. Give them credit for not letting us get the ball inside. We have stopped running and played very tired the last month. I don't know why."

"I thought it was a super team effort and great defense on the part of our guards," said an elated Bob Gaillard, the San Francisco coach. "We had to get some respect back tonight. I felt we showed great poise in the second half and again, the team effort was superb."

Bill Walton celebrated his selection earlier in the day as College Basketball Player of the Year by scoring 28 points and taking down 14 rebounds in UCLA's victory. Walton scored 18 of his points in the second half and Larry Hollyfield added 20 as UCLA recorded its 72nd consecutive victory.

UCLA, which crushed San Francisco 92-64 during the regular season, meets the Dons Saturday to determine the Western representative in next week's national finals in St. Louis.

In other regional semifinals, Providence ripped Penn 87-65 and Maryland downed Syracuse 91-75 in the East at Charlotte, N.C.; Kentucky beat Austin Peay 106-100 in overtime and Indiana upset Marquette 75-69 in the Midwest at Nashville, Tenn.; and Memphis State ousted South Carolina 90-76 and Kansas State dumped Southwestern Louisiana 66-63 in the Midwest at Houston.

Marvin Barnes and Ernie DiGregorio combined to beat Penn's defense, No. 1 in the nation, in Providence's victory. Barnes scored 20 points and DiGregorio, who ran the Friars' offense, hit 18. Jim O'Brien scored 21 points and freshman John Lucas had 20 in Maryland's triumph over Syracuse.

"This is the first time anyone got away from us," said Penn Coach Chuck Daly. "They beat us any way a team can."

Lefty Driesell, the colorful Maryland coach, was confident going into Saturday's Eastern final against Providence. "If I knew more about Providence, I'd probably be scared, but right now I ain't," Driesell said. "I wanted our team to peak in the tournament and it seems we are."

Austin Peay, led by 6-5 freshman Fly Williams' 26 points, put a scare into Kentucky before finally bowing in overtime. Austin Peay tied the game 92-92 with 41 seconds to play and jumped to a four-point lead in the overtime before Kentucky took over, Jim Andrews, who led the Wildcats with 30 points, scored three baskets and it was all over for Austin Peay.

"We came out overkeyed," said Joe Hall, Kentucky's rookie coach. "I want to congratulate my team for never giving up and keeping their heads up. This is not to detract from a good effort by a hustling Austin Peay team."

Steve Downing had 29 points and John Ritter sparked in the clutch as Indiana rallied to beat Marquette and set up a final Saturday against Kentucky. Marquette had a 10-point lead with 14 minutes left before the Hoosiers poured it on and tied the game with 9:54 to go. Ritter hit 12 of his 14 points in the second half to spark the rally. "I was really tickled by the way these kids came back," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "We did nothing particularly different to turn it around. We expect that sort of game from Downing."

Larry Kenon's 34 points and 20 rebounds carried Memphis State over South Carolina, the Tigers' first NCAA tournament victory in history. Memphis State trailed 18-14 with 11 minutes left in the first half when Kenon, Larry Finch and Ronnie Robinson exploded to lead the Tigers to a 37-18 lead at the half. Kenon completely outplayed South Carolina 7-foot Danny Traylor.

Lon Crugar, one of the smallest men on the court at 5-11, hit a key layup with 54 seconds left and then added a free throw with 18 seconds remaining to lift Kansas State past Southwestern Louisiana and set up a meeting with Memphis State. The Kansas State defense held Dwight Lamar, USL's leading scorer, to just 18 points, 11 below his average.

Tennessee State ripped Assumption 106-76 and Kentucky Wesleyan stopped Brockport State of New York 96-90 to set up a final matchup in the NCAA College Division tournament at Evansville, Ind.

The National Invitation Tournament begins in New York Saturday with a pair of doubleheaders.

SERIOUS BUSINESS — Arizona State's Mark Wesley mirrors the effort his West Devils put on during first half as he and UCLA's Keith Wilkes go after rebound in Westwood, Calif., Thursday night. UCLA won and advanced to meet the San Francisco Dons on Saturday. (UPI) Rookies That Bloom...

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The rookies that bloom... and wilt... in the spring, trail Craig Skok, a graduate of Florida State University, is a 25-year-old left-hander who led the International League last season with 15 wins.

He wasn't drafted, but was signed by the Boston Red Sox after being named most valuable player of the Schenectady, N.Y., Twilight League in 1969.

Thursday, it must have felt like the twilight zone as the Detroit Tigers unloaded on him for eight runs in the fourth inning of a 9-3 exhibition baseball victory. The onslaught included a grand slam home run by Willie Horton, a solo shot by Tony Taylor, run-scoring singles by Gates Brown and Al Kaline, and a missed fly ball by center fielder Reggie Smith which resulted in six of the runs being unearned.

Some other newcomers had better experiences to write home about. Charlie Spikes, Cleveland's key acquisition in a big winter deal with the New York Yankees, slugged his second and third home runs of the spring in the Indians' 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs, for three runs in the sixth inning and one in the seventh in his first appearance for the Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds trailed the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-2 in the third inning and were still down 11-7 when they came to bat in the eighth. But with two Saturday, rookie Joel Youngblood cracked a two-run homer off Padres a 5-4 decision over the San Francisco Giants. The Bob Miller and the Reds caught rookie outfielder connected off before Miller got the third Tom Bradley, who was tagged out.

A superb lineman, Goglia was named to the region XV and Mid-Hudson Conference all-star teams.

Manager Reinhardt says the addition of Goglia and Metcalf will greatly strengthen the offensive punch of the Kickers. Kingston leads the League Division with a 6-1 record and Reinhardt feels the Kickers have the horses to win the divisional championship and go back to the Premier Division next season.

Reinhardt has put the Kickers through several indoor practice sessions tuning up for Sunday's opener. The team has been working out in the New Paltz High School gym. Another indoor practice is set for March 25 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Kate Walton Field House.

All area soccer players interested in trying out for the team are invited to the March 25 workout.

"I want all area players in our team to know that our lineup is never closed," said Reinhardt. "We are always on the lookout for new talent. With soccer interest growing at area high schools, we look to them for new talent."

The Kickers play three road games at Oceanside, American Czechs and West New York before the 1973 inaugural at Oehlers Soccer Field on April 15 with Stamford.

The schedule for the remainder of the 1972-73 season: March 18 Oceanside Away April 1 Czechs Away April 8 W. New York Away April 15 Stamford Home April 29 Colombiana Home May 6 Yonkers Away May 20 Poughkeepsie Home

Golf Fundamentals

POUGHKEEPSIE "Golf Fundamentals," a credit-free course, will begin March 26 in Dutchess Community College's physical education center.

Grip, stance and swing will be among the fundamental principles discussed by instructor Charles DeStefano, a PGA golf professional.

The eight-week course in Falcon Hall will also cover the protocol of play, equipment needs and scoring practices. Registration may be completed by contacting the DCC Office of Continuing Education.

U. S. Open Tourney

NEWBURGH Several players who competed in the recent Kingston Invitational Pocket Billiard Tournament, including repeat champion Earl Herring are expected to participate in the U.S. Open qualifying round, March 20-24, at the Empire Billiard Lounge.

Joining Herring will be Dave Holly of Kingston, Jack Colavito of New Jersey and Newburghers Max Klindworth, runner-up to Herring and Bob Harbster.

Matches begin each night at 6:30 p.m. and there will be an admission charge.

Bennett Riders Win

MILLBROOK Riders from Bennett College were reserve team champions at the recent St. Lawrence University Inter-collegiate Horse Show held on the Canton, N. Y. campus.

In addition, senior Christian Platten of North Wales, Pa. was champion high point winner and Esther Yazwinski of Deerfield, Mass., also a senior at Bennett, was reserve champion.

Rondout Gymnastics

KYSERIKE Rondout Valley Central's Middle School gymnastics lost a squeaker to Germantown by a score of 14.3 to 14.1.

In individual performances, Rondout's Lorraine Nielsen tied for second in floor exercises; Margaret Davis placed first on the uneven parallel bars; and in vaulting, Maria Barrecchia was first and Lorraine Nielsen tied for second.

Volleyball at RVC

Rondout Valley High School girls' volleyball team played their first games recently. The varsity dropped two games to New Paltz by scores of 15-5 and 15-1, then defeated Pine Bush 15-8 and 15-6. The overall high scorer for Rondout was Fran Pulling with 14 points.

In all four Junior Varsity games, Rondout was the loser, bowing to New Paltz 15-3 and 15-0 and to Pine Bush 16-14 and 15-10.

Paltz Incumbent Is Endorsed

NEW PALTZ Logan for reelection. "Both
O. Lincoln Igou, independent incumbent candidate for trustee of the Village of New Paltz, has been endorsed for reelection by this community," said Sherwig.
Mayor Henry W. DuBois, Trust-
tee John M. Sherwig, and Recreation Commission Chairman
Mrs. Mary Jane Ordway.
In urging Igou's reelection, DuBois said Igou had proven to be "a valuable addition to the board," and praised his "deep concern and understanding coupled with an active involvement in search of answers to the areas of his immediate trustee assignments, but also in his vigorous, responsible participation in every matter of village business," stated DuBois.
Sherwig endorsed both Igou and incumbent Trustee John said Mrs. Ordway.

Village Mayor Issues Charge

ELLENVILLE He said that he and his Demo-David Kramer, Democratic candidate for Mayor of the Village of Ellenville, has charged in a campaign statement that the recent application of the unsafe buildings law in Ellenville is only a campaign move by the Republicans.
Kramer, who refers to the law as the Kramer Law and says it was named after him, said he "... did not have confidence in this sudden two-weeks before election move by his opponent."
"This is the same thing they did with senior citizen housing and fixing our streets and sidewalks," said Kramer. "They talked and promised it two weeks before the last election and killed it as soon as they took office."

Dedication Rites

The $70,000 new educational unit of the First Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf Street at Wiltwyck Avenue, will be dedicated in ceremonies Sunday
3 p.m. The Rev. Thomas H.
Younce, pastor announced to day that the Rev. J. H. White, district superintendent of the New York Nazarene District and Kingston City Judge Hubert
A. Richter will participate. He extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Appellate Ruling Is Explained

TOWN OF ROCHESTER — Ulster County Supreme Court to grant a permit for the two-family residence. At the same time, said Trafficanti, the Appellate Division ruled against renovation of the abandoned gas station into an antique shop on the same property.

The Appellate Division ruled that "A two-family dwelling is permitted, contingent upon securing a special use permit from the zoning board," but decision by the Zoning Board that "gas stations and antique shops are not permitted" in an S. Conway of Special Term of area designated "R-1."

City Men Are Arrested

KINGSTON — Jesse Caprotti, 52, of 141 Washington Avenue; Leonard Richard Wolfe, 32, of 533 Delaware Avenue; and Willett C. Hahn, 36, of 13 Orchard Street.

Arraigned before Hurley Town Justice C. H. DuMont Wolfe and Hahn were released upon posting $2,500 bail each. Caprotti posted $500 bail and was released. All three are to be taken into custody were to appear at a later date.

Hinchey Claims 'Whitewash'

SAUGERTIES Control on county fiscal policies. Maurice D. Hinchey Jr., Democratic State Com. said, "that an average of nearly one half million dollars in public funds was deposited in non-Ulster County Legislature and interest bearing accounts from Fred DuBois, county treasurer, 1969 to 1971. We have waited several weeks and still have not received a responsible answer."

Public Hearing

The Esopus Town Board will hold a public hearing Monday High School, sponsored by the at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Hall in Port Ewen on proposed changes in the zoning ordinance and zoning map dealing with the location of mobile homes in the township. The proposed changes have been submitted to the Town Board by the Planning Board, according to Supervisor George Freer.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, March 17

GENERAL TENDENCIES: it arises. Get rid of stumbling blocks in the path of happiness. Evening is fine for entertaining.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have many errands to run today and should do so, but use care in motion and keep purse zipped. The individual you want to contact isn't in proper mood so wait for a better time to do so. Think constructively.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have a great deal of work to do that may seem dull, but if you keep at it, it is soon done and you're then ahead of the game. Rest some so you do not harm your health. Don't talk so much, either.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get out to beauty or barber shop and get yourself in fine condition for the social and other pleasures you want over the weekend. Take some time to work on that creative hobby you like. Be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to keep on your toes and poised if you want to maintain harmony within the home. Take up each issue as LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Sit down and figure out what your financial position is, but don't let some forgotten bill bother you so much. Get it paid. Try a different approach and make the collections long overdue. Don't permit a friend to waste your time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take it slowly today even though you want to get ahead fast, but using force could prove disastrous. Get your health improved as well as your appearance and then the world looks much brighter to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keep busy getting small tasks out of the way that you have been putting aside for some time, and clear the slate for more fascinating things in the future. Help a friend financially, but don't waste time on sympathy which is weakening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't lose your poise trying to help a friend with a big problem and then all works out just fine. Plan what you want to accomplish socially, but don't take any steps in such direction as yet. Sleep on it first.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have some complaint you want to bring to the attention of a prominent person, but tomorrow would be a better time to do so. Build up your credit by paying your bills. Do not irritate mate in any way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to run away from responsibilities and put new ideas to work, but they need more study, so handle obligations with care first. Show intelligence in such and impress associates favorably. Moderation in food and drink.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need to be precise in the handling of any obligations you may have. Mate is in a difficult position, so do nothing to further annoy your partner. Show kindness instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good day to have discussions with partners who are not in a good mood and matters could get worse. Some public matter could be annoying, but there is little you can do about it.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people whose head will be full of many ideas, who is apt to start working on one, then shift to another, and thereby accomplish little unless you teach early to complete whatever has once been started. There is fine ability at getting the bugs out of any projects and the education should be slanted along such lines; then much money can be made during the lifetime.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Timely Quote

Education is the only constitutionally established responsibility in which people are asked to participate in the financing. We don't ask them to levy millage against themselves for highways or health services — only for schools. It's the only place people can vent their frustrations.

It is hard to think of another business... that is anything remotely like tradebook publishing — a business in which the zealous manufacturer is separated from would-be consumers by a phalanx of men and women who are paid by presumably disinterested employers to pass judgment on the quality of what is being purveyed.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BROTHER-IN-LAW: (Q) My older sister is six months pregnant and I think I am in love with her husband. It started when they came home for Christmas. I was out with him 'til 4:30 a.m. on New Year's. I feel so guilty. I try not to think about him. Please tell me what to do. Help!

SAD 16 IN FLORIDA

(A) Stay away from your brother-in-law. His interest in you has nothing to do with love. Face that fact. Live with it. Any further adventures you have with him could scar you for life. They could do the same to your sister. They could tear your family apart.

Find a boy who can love you and honor you. You have had enough dishonor.

SPLIT UP: (Q) When I was going with Luke he told me he loved me. But soon after he told me he broke up with me and started going with another girl.

He has started coming by my house, though, and my friends say he tells them he still loves me. How can I be sure?

BROKEN HEARTED IN MASSACHUSETTS

(A) Most people have regular routes to and from school or work or other interests. If your home is on one of Luke's regular routes his coming by may mean nothing. If it is not, his passing means he is still interested in you.

If there are any circumstances in which you see him, always be at your best, groomed, smiling and friendly. Show no jealousy or uncertainty.

He may, indeed, prefer you and want you back. In case he does, he will find a way to let you know in person.

This Blonde Gets Exposure

NEW YORK (AP) — The lady is a tall-blond-eyed blonde with a low-throated voice. She gets more television exposure on a nightly basis than the star of any series or news program now on the tube.

You see her every night on the NBC Television network, yet you might have trouble remembering her name.

For the record, it's Sharon Obeck. She's the star of a 30-second, seven-night-a-week series called "What's on Tonight," which premiered last Sept. 11 and still is going strong.

She is NBC's version of vaudeville's hillbilly girls, those ladies who used to go on stage between acts and flip the signs that told or warned of coming attractions on the bill.

Every other Tuesday, she checks in at NBC here to tape 14 30-second reminders of what is facing viewers for each night of the next two weeks. She earns a good living doing it.

And the exposure she gets is an actress' dream. It held such allure that 150 girls applied for her first at age 13 on behalf of Coca-Cola.

She has a weird dream for someone of her background. She says she wants to do a sports show that covers the athletic world from a woman's point of view.

"I don't think I can make a commitment to acting now," said Miss Obeck, a warm, lively woman who at first glance appears to be the classic blonde aristocrat who is always riding off to hounds or somewhere.

"I think acting requires a lot of leaving home, and I don't want to leave home," she said.

"Home and my two children are my top priorities. Acting makes you too transient."

Miss Obeck, who is divorced, has acted in several TV series and was a regular four years ago in "Mr. Broadway," which expired after 13 weeks on the air.

She lives in suburban Larchmont, N.Y., where she runs a television commercial and modeling school she helped found.

She got into show business through television commercials.

Her interest in sports may be inherited. Her father, now re-tired, used to be a New York sportscaster. But she wants to emphasize the human side of athletics, rather than just the process of winning and losing in assorted sports battles.

"I'd also like to re-emphasize the fact that sports in this crazy world today is part of our human drive, of bettering ourselves," she said. "It's very healthy."

Those who make a profession out of poverty got fat; the taxpayers got stuck with the bill, and the disadvantaged themselves got little but broken promises. We must do better than this.

—President Nixon.

According to Newspaper Editor

Viets Not Hiding U.S. Prisoners

HANOI, North Vietnam (AP) — The editor of North Vietnam's chief newspaper says his government is not hiding any American prisoners and a search will be started for all the missing and dead as soon as this is possible.

"We have detained only those who were on the lists already handed over," said Hoang Tung, senior editor of Nhan Dan, the North Vietnamese Communist party newspaper.

"There are no others," he said in an interview today that the government knows of some American dead and where they are buried, but it will be difficult to locate all the dead.

"Many went down with their planes," he said. "A systematic search to locate the dead has not started yet, but we will do it."

Tung said North Vietnam has no information on 19 newsmen missing in Cambodia and must refer all questions about Cambodia to Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed Cambodian chief of state living in Peking.

However, the editor said he believed Sihanouk "will have an answer at the right time. As you know the war in Cambodia is still on. Some people presume-ed dead appeared on our POW lists when the war ended."

Tung charged that the United States is delaying the removal of the mines it planted along the North Vietnamese coast to hinder Hanoi's foreign trade.

"The United States uses de-mining as a bargain to maintain blockage and hinder trade and free circulation," he said, predicting that completion of the minesweeping would be delayed "even beyond the last POW release."

Tung said there are two possible courses for future U.S.-North Vietnamese relations, normal or antagonistic, and that Hanoi desires the first. He also said his government desires diplomatic, commercial and cultural relations "on an equal footing" with the United States and feels Washington has a "political and moral duty" to aid in North Vietnam's reconstruction.

"Regarding commercial relations, America has a lot to offer," Tung said. "We have little. Maybe you want tropical products like bananas or papayas, which have the shape of a bomb. Maybe your ships should transport papayas to the United States instead of bombs to Vietnam."

Tung cited "continuing armed conflict in the South," and said "there is always the danger that war will break out again, and therefore it is dangerous to say that we have shifted from war to peace without reservation."

He said his government believes cease-fire violations "must have tacit American consent" and the United States should tell President Nguyen Van Thieu "to implement the cease-fire."

"Don't let yourself be carried too far by Thieu," he added. "The war has lasted not 12 but 20 years. For the moment it has stopped."

TACKLING DRUG PROBLEM — Mr. and Mrs. Robert McManus of Catskill have taken their three children aged 7, 13 and 14, out of school. And they say the children will not go back until something is done about the "hellish situation" they say exists in the school, with kids on dope and their parents unwary and apathetic. The McManuses say the action became necessary when they discovered their oldest child, Debbie, was on drugs. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Specialists' Team Headed for Peking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American and European affairs, and Marshal Yeh Chieh-ying, acting minister of defense.

Chinese Nationalist diplomats in Washington were silent on the latest developments between the United States and Peking. There was more concern by the Nationalist diplomats about a speech by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield in which the Montana senator advocated scrapping U.S. ties with Taiwan and the removal of remaining American forces from the island and from South Korea.

The five-man team, headed by Chinese-speaking experts, will include communications and building specialists who will prepare the quarters of the first American diplomatic outpost on the Chinese mainland.

President Nixon announced the latest appointment for Bruce, 75, a former ambassador to Britain, Germany, France and the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, at a news conference Thursday.

"I thought it was very important to appoint a man of great stature to this position. The Chinese accepted that view themselves, and we expect soon to hear from them as to the appointment of the man they will have as his opposite number here in Washington."

The President also stressed he regards the opening of a liaison office as "the beginning, we trust, of a longer journey—a journey in which we will have our differences, but one in which the most populous nation of the world and the United States of America can work together, where their interests coincide, for the cause of peace, and better relations in the Pacific and in the world."

Speculation on whom China might appoint to the Washington post centered on Chiao K'uan-hua, the vice foreign minister and a man close to Premier Chou En-lai; Chang Wen-chin, assistant foreign minister and an expert on

Helicopter Draws Fire

SAIGON (UPI) — An unarmed American helicopter carrying Communist peace supervisors to a proposed site for a Vietnamese prisoner of war exchange was fired on Thursday in an area under Viet Cong control, a U.S. spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong officers aboard the helicopter, marked with the bright orange stripes of the peace-keeping Joint Military Commission (JMC), were "noticeably upset" and the crew members had to "settle down" the Communist passengers.

The chopper was one of two on a mission carrying JMC teams to a suggested Vietnamese POW release site near Tam Ky.

The release site is in an area the Viet Cong claims to control. The crew reported about 50 shots were fired at the helicopter but it was not hit. It quickly turned away from the area and the other chopper followed.

Radio Hanoi, monitored in Saigon, charged that the United States was sending reconnaissance planes over North Vietnamese territory and said it was a violation of the Paris peace accords. The charge came less than 24 hours after President Nixon warned that "serious consequences" could follow Communist truce violations.

The broadcast said two U.S. jets flew over the north Monday and that on the following day, another American plane "reconnoitered the coast" along North Vietnam's panhandle. The United States does not comment on Radio Hanoi accusations.

Military sources said more than 1,000 Communists were to be released by South Vietnam today at several points around the country. U.S. military sources said the release of Communist war prisoners at Quang Tri City was halted Thursday when 400 of them refused to cross the Thach Han River in boats bearing the flags of South Vietnam. The sources said the release of the first 700 Communist POWs went off without incident.

The U.S. sources said Viet Cong officers overseeing the release apparently made no effort to intervene. It was presumed the 400 protesters would be among the Communist POWs scheduled for release today at various sites in South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, military spokesmen reported 22 Communists killed in skirmishes Thursday just north of Saigon in continuing post-truce fighting. Heavy fighting erupted in Cambodia, where U.S. warplanes again hit Communist targets and supply routes.

The Saigon command reported 141 Communist cease-fire violations in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, bringing to 7,154 the number of infractions alleged by Saigon since the Vietnam truce Jan. 28.

Among the alleged violations were two battles in Binh Duong Province, 27 miles north of Saigon, where the command reported 22 Communists killed at a cost of three government militiamen dead and three others wounded.

Earlier, spokesmen said Communist terrorists hurling hand grenades killed 17 worshippers and wounded 88 others Thursday in a Buddhist pagoda in the Mekong Delta.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian command said 30 Communists were killed and eight government troops died in fighting that flared close to the South Vietnamese border near Phnom Den, 62 miles from Phnom Penh. Several homes in the small village were destroyed in the battle, the command said.

On embattled Highway 2 just south of Phnom Penh, the command said government troops ground ahead about a quarter of a mile Thursday in their drive to wipe out Communist emplacements along the route to the provincial capital of Takeo, 55 miles south of the capital.

The command said government soldiers inching their way along the highway were still under Communist fire near Khleang Moeung, 18 miles south of the capital. Military sources said U.S. B52 bombers hit Communist positions on the highway about 25 miles south of Phnom Penh.
